

Demos Angry Over Pay Hike To Rhodes Aides

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An aide to Gov. James A. Rhodes says he sees nothing wrong with the governor granting pay raises for his top appointive officers while ordering budget cuts for most state departments.

But legislative Democrats saw it differently.

"In times like this, those jobs are miserable and tough," the aide, Chan Cochran, said. "No cabinet officer is making what he's worth."

Cochran said each cabinet officer was earning, before the raises, less than the minimum salary mandated by the budget bill.

In January, Rhodes' top officers decided to forego pay hikes because of the state's tight money situation. Cochran said there was no limit imposed at that time on how long the raises were to be forestalled.

State officials said the pay boosts for department directors, their deputies and other ranking officers, totaling more than $200,000 annually, were ordered last July by Administrative Services Director Richard Krabach after consultation with Rhodes.

The hikes came about the same time Rhodes, by executive order, extended to the current fiscal year a 2 per cent budget reduction for all state agencies except those of the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction.

Rhodes earlier this month imposed a further 1 per cent budget cut, exempting the Welfare Department, for a total 3 per cent reduction through June 30, saying the action was necessary to help balance the state budget.

Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Northfield, called Rhodes' approval of the raises "hyprocrisy." He condemned the administration for secretly trying to "smuggle this through."

"When the legislature authorizes raises, we do it in public," Ocasek said.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe, D-89 New Boston, called the raises "irresponsible."

Riffe noted that Democrats have been saying all along that there was no need for the budget cuts. "This proves we're right," he said. "There must be money there or how could he give the raises."

Rep. Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, chairman of the House Finance-Appropriations Committee, said the action "runs contrary to what (Republicans) have been preaching about the tight money situation."

State Budget Director William Wilkins said the "cost of the raises was not sufficient to be a major budgetary concern" and will be met with money available within each department's budget.

GRAND CHAMPION — This float, sponsored by the Circleville Herald, won the Grand Champion Award in the Pumpkin Show Float competition. The float was designed and built by Carl Manson and Mark Davy, who own and operate a float decorating business. For several years the two men have sent floats all over the state in various festivals. The theme for the grand champion float was a "Salute to American History." Director of the float competition was Jack Clifton.

WINNER — Miss Kelly Spence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Spence, 424 Holiday Lane, was crowned Miss Teenage Columbus in ceremonies last night at the Neil House Motor Hotel in Columbus. Kelly competed against 90 other girls from 24 counties in the Columbus area for the title. The competition took several weeks, and included a test of scholastic knowledge, along with preliminary competitions. Kelly is now eligible to compete in the Miss Teenage America Pageant, sponsored by the Dr. Pepper Bottling Company. Kelly will leave Columbus on Nov. 19, and go to Tulsa, Oklahoma, where the Miss Teenage America Pageant will be held on Nov. 27. The pageant will be seen nationwide on the NBC Television network. Bob Hope will emcee the event.

25 Persons Dead In New York Fire; Arson Arrest Set

NEW YORK (AP) — Investigators believe an arson fire that killed 25 persons at an overcrowded second-story club may have been started by a man who was thrown out after arguing with his wife, sources say.

Authorities said a flammable liquid or other accelerating material was used to start the fire early Sunday morning in the only staircase in the South Bronx building. The death toll was said to be the worst from any arson fire in the city's history.

Most of the victims died of smoke inhalation in the 25-by-40-foot room. Twenty-four persons suffered injuries. Most of them broke bones when they leaped from a window, unable to use a blocked fire escape.

"The poor people never had a chance," one fireman said.

Police Commissioner Michael Codd said at the scene that his detectives were looking for "a specific person." He said later that police knew where the man was. He reportedly was in a hospital, among those injured during the blaze.

Sources said the man in question had an argument with his wife and was told to leave by the proprietor of the Club Puerto Rico, where more than 50 persons of Dominican descent had gathered for a party. The club's occupancy permit is for 20 persons, city records show.

Jacob Melendez, 27, the leader of the band playing for the party, said he heard an argument between a man and woman, apparently over the woman's dancing with another man.

"Don't worry, I'll get you," Melendez said the man yelled before he was thrown out.

"The man then left," Melendez said. "We continued to play and everyone was having a good time. About an hour and a half later, I heard a noise and immediately saw flames and black smoke by the door."

Codd said "there are many aspects under investigation" and refused to confirm or deny reports that the man had returned to the club with gasoline and been burned while setting the fire.

Bronx Dist. Atty. Mario Merola said the fire escape was blocked by a window gate locked from the inside to ward off burglars.

Some of the dead bore evidence of having been trampled as they tried to escape. Some literally were torn from their shoes, which were scattered about the room as reminders of the terror that accompanied the fierce flash fire.

Ten died in restrooms where they fled or were trapped. Most of the other victims were found near the window, police said.

Weather

Partly cloudy today with a chance of showers and a high in the middle 50s. Variable cloudiness tonight turning colder with a low in the middle 30s. Mostly cloudy Tuesday with possible snow flurries and temperatures in the middle 40s. Saturday's high was 47 with a low of 40 and the high Sunday was 55 with a low during the night of 48.

Candidates Go Into Election Homestretch

By ROBERT B. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer

With eight days until harvest time, the presidential candidates are taking their scythed where the hay grows thickest.

The political hay is in seven of the nation's largest states, which both camps consider vital for victory and still winnable by either man.

Voters in those states — California, New York, Illinois, Ohio, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Texas — will be seeing a lot of Republicans Gerald R. Ford and Bob Dole and Democrats Jimmy Carter and Walter Mondale in the week ahead. Among them, those voters control 207 of the 270 electoral votes needed to win.

Ford opened a $4-million media campaign Sunday. It will be the centerpiece of his stretch campaign, and it will be directed at six of those seven states.

He also spoke today about inflation during time bought on the Mutual Radio Network.

His campaign committee bought 30 minutes of prime television time in California and put the President on to be "interviewed" Sunday by a campaign volunteer, sportscaster Joe Garagiola.

Ford chose to talk about three issues in comparing himself with Carter: national defense, taxation and foreign affairs.

He said Carter's call for a cut of $5 billion to $7 billion in the defense budget would weaken the country. Ford noted that he supports production of the B1 bomber, which Carter would delay.

Ford said Carter's proposal to eliminate tax loopholes and deductions would raise taxes for middle-income Americans, a charge Carter has denied. Ford said his proposal for a tax cut would help those in middle-income brackets. The President has said he would reduce taxes with any budget surplus that accrues in the next four years.

He said Carter has no experience in foreign affairs, while he has met with 124 world leaders in two years as president.

Ford will film and show similar programs this week as he campaigns across the country in Illinois on Tuesday, Pennsylvania on Wednesday, Ohio on Thursday and New York on Sunday. New Jersey television markets will be covered by the New York and Pennsylvania programs.

Carter will cross the country in the other direction. Today was his last day of rest at home in Plains, Ga., prior to the voting. He was scheduled to head north and then west, finishing the campaign in Texas on Sunday and California next Monday.

The visit home gave Carter a chance to attend a session of the men's Bible class at Plains Baptist Church.

Carter is still front-runner in the campaign, according to a batch of polls taken for newspapers and magazines and published over the weekend. But his lead is narrow.

A national survey for Time magazine by the firm of Yankelovich, Skelly and White showed Carter with 48 per cent, Ford with 44 and 8 per cent undecided.

Newsweek and U.S. News and World Report magazines surveyed the states to see how the electoral vote total might divide. Newsweek found Carter solidly leading for 83 votes and in the lead for another 225, which would give him 38 more than he needs to win.

U.S. News and World Report's survey showed Carter leading for 244 votes and Ford for 90, with the rest too close to call.

A poll taken for The Associated Press immediately after Friday's final presidential debate by Chilton Research Service found that 49.0 per cent of those surveyed were leaning to Ford and 44.9 per cent to Carter. But the AP sample found a disproportionate number of older people and Republicans in the debate audience, so the sample does not necessarily reflect the views of the total electorate.

In statewide polls, Ford and Carter both found reason for optimism. The Detroit News found Ford leading in Michigan, but by only three percentage points, 45 to 42.

In North Carolina, The News and Observer of Raleigh found that Ford is nearly tied with Carter in a state once all but conceded to the Georgian. Its label must include the percentage of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance for protein, five vitamins and two minerals contained in each serving.

The U.S. RDA's indicate how much of a given nutrient is necessary to maintain good health. If a nutritional label lists Vitamin A, followed by the number 10, that means one serving of the product provides 10 per cent of the amount of Vitamin A needed every day.

Part of consumers' confusion may be due to the fact that protein is listed twice on nutritional labels — once by the number of grams and one by the percentage of the U.S. RDA provided in a serving.

Another reason for confusion may be the frequent use of ounces for serving size and grams for nutritional information.

A spokesman for the FDA said the use of grams for the nutrition information is required, first, because the nation is switching to the metric system and second, because the

Kidnapped Youth Freed In Circleville

A 13-year-old Lancaster boy was released unharmed in Circleville by a man who held him captive in his car for nearly two and a half hours Sunday afternoon.

The man, who remains unidentified, shoved the boy from the car near the intersection of Ohio St. and S. Court St. after he apparently spotted a Circleville Police cruiser.

The boy, Jeffrey Gibson, 13, 1790 Baumak Hill Road, Lancaster, was abducted 4:30 p.m. Sunday while he was riding his bicycle in the parking lot of the F.H. Brewer Gravel Company, which is located on Route 33, south of Lancaster.

The man, driving a black 1968 Pontiac Bonneville with out of state license plates, told the youth nothing more than "shut-up" during the ordeal.

Gibson's bicycle, which was tossed into the trunk of the car by the man, was found 1:23 a.m. Monday by Circleville Police at the intersection of Crites Road and Route 23.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Jim Fite is investigating the kidnapping.

MERCHANT-COMMERCIAL — This float was the blue ribbon winner in the Merchant-Commercial category in the Pumpkin Show float competition. Entitled "200 Years of Freedom", the float was sponsored by Lowes

Lumber Company. Burger Chef took second place honors with "King Pumpkin Salutes America's Birthday." Third place went to Circleville Industries with "Happy Birthday To The USA."

Man Rescued; Companions Buried At Sea

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A young sailor is safe and heading home after 28 days adrift in the Pacific Ocean, during which he went without food and buried two companions at sea.

The Coast Guard rescued Bruce Collins, 23, of Glendale, Calif., Sunday and said he was suffering from "acute malnutrition and dehydration and numerous body sores."

Collins was being fed intravenously and was sleeping normally, the Coast Guard added.

A week-long air search across 40,000 square miles of ocean ended when Collins' raft was spotted about 780 miles west of here.

He was rescued two hours later by a Coast Guard cutter that radioed that the survivor was "mentally alert and knows where he is." The cutter is expected to reach port here Tuesday night.

Collins was one of five persons aboard the 42-foot ketch Spirit, which was en route to San Francisco from Hawaii when it broke up and sank during a violent storm Sept. 27.

Durel Miller, 28, and Nancy Perry, 21, both of San Anselmo, Calif., were rescued in one raft Oct. 18 after 24 days adrift.

They provided the first word of the sinking and triggered the search for their three companions, who were in a larger raft outfitted with some drinking water but no food.

Collins was spotted about 80 miles from where Miller and Miss Perry were rescued by a passing freighter.

Collins told the Coast Guard that his two companions on the raft, Jim Ahola and Camilla Arthur, died last week and that they were buried at sea.

South Africa Reports 4 Deaths

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Police gunfire has killed four more blacks and wounded more than 50 in three clashes in the black Soweto township eight miles south of Johannesburg, according to authorities.

This raised the total reported casualties in black protests against the white minority government to 344 persons killed and more than 2,000 injured since June. Most of the casualties have been black.

Deputy Police Commissioner D.J. Kriel said three persons were killed and 51 injured on Sunday when police fired on a crowd that stoned them at a Soweto cemetery.

The clash occurred at the funeral of a black university student who died of natural causes. Kriel said a funeral procession of about 2,000 blacks accompanied the body to the cemetery.

Claim Bribes Were Offered To Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury is investigating allegations that South Koreans, seeking to curry favor for their country, offered bribes to several U.S. congressmen.

The New York Times reported today that the investigation has reached the point where several South Korean diplomats might be asked to leave the country.

On Sunday, the Washington Post quoted sources within the investigation as saying that the South Korean group, led by businessman Tongsun Park, had recorded the disbursement of $500,000 to $1 million per year in gifts to congressmen and other officials.

Park, identified by the investigators as an operative of the South Korean Central Intelligence Agency, financed the gifts through commissions he earned as the exclusive agent for the sale of American rice to South Korea, a franchise granted him by the South Korean government, the Post reported.

The Post said Park has told investigators he made payments to former Reps. Cornelius Gallagher, D-N.J., Richard Hanna, D-Calif., and Edwin Edwards, D-La., and Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Mich.

Neither Gallagher nor Hanna have been available for comment.

amounts involved often are too small to be expressed in ounces.

Reading a nutritional label won't tell you at a glance what part of a given product is fat, for example. You will have to do your own calculations for that. (There are just over 28 grams in an ounce.) The label will, however, enable you to compare the amount of fat in different foods with different serving sizes.

Some of the information appearing on nutritional labels is optional, including the cholesterol and sodium content.

The Kellogg Co. recently started providing some information that is not required by the government, but has often been demanded by consumer groups — the sugar content of various cereals.

"We are trying to give the consumers what they want and need," said company president W.E. Lamothe.

Kellogg considered listing the sugar content by percentage, rather than by grams per ounce, but the company said it decided such information would be misleading. To support its claim, Kellogg points out that the number of grams of sugar in a whole orange and in one ounce of Kellogg's Sugar Smacks are the same, although the percentage of sugar in the orange is smaller since the fruit weighs more.

A Page Of Opinion

Nuclear Second Thoughts

Ah, the power of public opinion! France, which in the recent past had caustically told the United States and others critical of French nuclear export policies to mind their own business, has had second thoughts.

In Paris, the government announced new policies on the sale of nuclear technology which it said would help prevent the spread of nuclear military capabilities. It was on that point that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has been openly critical of the French decision to sell a nuclear reprocessing facility to Pakistan.

The effect of its "new policies" on the Pakistan deal has not been specifically mentioned by France, but French officials did say they were ready to "study with interested parties bilateral or multilateral agreements capable of guaranteeing results."

France has not signed the nuclear nonproliferation treaty. It does not yet seem prepared to do so, unless the force of domestic opinion compels it. It was exactly that—a furore which arose in domestic French politics—that forced the government to reevaluate its previous nuclear export policies.

Barbara Walters

By JIM BISHOP

Now that Barbara Walters is on the air, it is to be hoped that the press is mollified in its suspicion about a lady earning a million dollars a year. If the ABC network can afford Ms. Walters, the rest of us can afford to curb our envy.

The only person who must listen to her is Harry Reasoner. He sits beside her, working up that impish overage grin, and, for whatever ABC pays him, Harry must appear to be content with the arrangement.

As a people, we are obsessed with money. If we haven't got it, we want to be told about those who have it and how they got it. No sports commentator tells us that Jack Nicklaus scored 276 in a four-round tournament. What we hear is that he added another $40,000 to his earnings of $200,000 for the year.

Professional football players are rolled into our presence with suitable comments about age, height, weight and how much it cost management to sign them this year. The excellence of a tennis play is marred by repeated references to how much Chris Evert and Jimmy Connors have earned this season.

People such as Barbara Walters are television stars. They are faces and personalities who read 20-second news items from a sheet of paper and a cue card. Quite often, the material is written by others and edited by Cronkite, Chancellor, Reasoner and Walters.

They call themselves journalists, but, with some exceptions, they're not. Journalists do their own research and writing. Working stiffs such as I wince when we hear Daniel Schorr refuse to divulge a leak of information in government on the grounds of freedom of the press.

I do not think that Barbara Walters is overpaid. There is a chuckle in the thought that a female is getting more money than her male confreres. For a little while, she will like the ABC news ratings by a few digits. Then the people will revert to their favorite sources.

I knew her old man. Lou Walters was a producer of cut-rate Ziegfeld shows. His formula was to open with a fast dance number with a lot of long legs hiking up and down in the front line, toss a magician into the middle, a baggy pants comic, and close with a grand staircase and sedate beauties in spangled gowns.

His daughter is, in my estimation, a tough tomato. This is not a pejorative; the job of the interviewer is to be merciless in keeping the interviewee on the track, and Barbara Walters can do that.

And yet I would have counted myself lucky if she had chosen to interview me every time I wrote a book. Fortunately for both of us, she did not do it. When I'm aroused I freeze my cast-iron kisser and become sarcastic.

The average editor of a big-town newspaper seldom earns more than one-twentieth of what Ms. Walters gets. He works long hours listening to subordinate editors tell him what stories are breaking, who is covering, whether photographs will accompany the story, where the makeup editor plans to spot each story, and at what length.

I know of none who would trade places with any of the television stars. This is not a form of derision; it is an intimate assessment of one's talent and a consciousness of where the heart lies.

Now and then authors dip a tepid toe into television, but none of them frightens the real stars. They remain awhile, a foot in each of two canoes, and they drown. Television has an inordinate respect for writers — largely unwarranted — and equates

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — An offshoot of the consumer movement that ironically is bound to mean higher prices for retail products is the rising number of people suing companies for allegedly defective products.

Insurance officials and manufacturers compare the problem to the more publicized medical malpractice situation, in which doctors complain they cannot afford to pay the rising costs of premiums.

The trend in industry, however, is far more serious.

The Conference Board, which analyzed the trend in its publication "Across The Board," estimates that one million product liability claims will be filed in 1976.

"The cost of liability coverage for non-auto-related accidents jumped from $2 billion in 1970 to $3 billion in 1974 and some estimates indicate it could reach $30 billion by 1980," it stated.

Wherever possible, the costs are being worked into the retail prices of consumer products, thus constituting an almost automatic inflationary factor.

In some instances, however, this cannot be done. Reports of insurance-induced failures are rising, and a growing number of small concerns are reporting difficulties in obtaining insurance.

"Increasingly," says The Conference Board, "smaller companies are going self-insured, a synonym for uninsured." When confronted with a product liability claim, these companies are highly vulnerable.

Nobody, aside from the relative few who obtain settlements, benefits from the situation. While insurers are obtaining higher prices for their product, they are also being forced to pay out larger amounts.

During the past 15 years, says The good writing with good speech.

The chasm between the two is unbridgeable. No one can write a better fight story, for example, than Norman Mailer. But who can match Don Dunphy for making a dull fight sound exciting on the airwaves? Nobody.

I marvel at the daily production of good talk shows such as Mike Douglas, Merv Griffin, Today and Johnny Carson. Suppose each one was reduced to words on sheets of paper. Would you read it? Neither would I.

Somewhere there may be a woman who can recite news items better than Barbara Walters, or conduct interviews in a more revealing manner. I doubt it. To reach the top in any area of endeavor is a long arduous climb. Ms. Walters has made it.

I hope it keeps her out of my field . . .

Conference Board, a nonprofit research organization, more than 50 product liability awards have topped $1 million.

In filing more and more claims for product-related injuries, the board states, "plaintiffs are being aided by a growing army of 'hired guns,' including doctors, engineers and economists retained by attorneys . . ."

Cited as another key factor is a shift in the judicial climate which reportedly makes it easier for persons to collect for product-related injuries.

"Individuals seeking damages need not prove that the manufacturer has been negligent or has violated either an express or implied warranty. The manufacturer can be held liable simply by producing what turned out to be a dangerous or defective product," the report states.

Even the negligent use of the product by the consumers isn't always an effective defense. The record shows that consumers who have improperly used products nevertheless have received sizable rewards.

The solution to the problem apparently rests with manufacturers, although there is no assurance that they can succeed. In order to reduce claims and settlements, manufacturers will have to become ingenious in devising products that are safe under almost all conditions and uses.

In other words, they are confronted with a situation which requires the production of almost idiot-proof products.

In order to accomplish this goal a considerable amount of technology that might have gone into lowering prices will have to be utilized.

Liberal Arts

Importance Eyed

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The importance of liberal arts in education will be the theme of the Friday inauguration of Dr. Robert C. Good as the 16th president of Denison University.

Princeton University president Dr. William Bowen, a Denison graduate, will deliver the inaugural address. Good formerly was dean of the graduate school of international studies and the social science foundation at the University of Denver. He is a Phi Beta Kappa and central and southern Africa specialist. He served as the first U.S. ambassador to Zambia, from 1964 to his resignation in 1969.

Good is a graduate of Haverford College with postgraduate degrees from Yale and Yale Divinity School.

Cincinnati Utility Earnings Decline

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. and subsidiaries reported reduced earnings for the 12 months ended Sept. 30 with earnings of $478,113 compared to $500,598 for the previous year.

Earnings per share were $1.50, after preferred shares, compared to $1.90 last year.

The utility reported gas sales down 9.7 per cent but retail electric sales were up 2.6 per cent over 1975.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I am completely recovered from a heart attack seven years ago. Do you see any reason why I should not be able to fly in a plane or go to a high altitude? My wife is so frightened that we just stay put, year in and year out.

Dear Mr. J.:
After seven years, your wife and you have a right to feel secure that you have completely recovered from the heart episode.

I assume, too, that during this interval you have been checked by your doctor and have been pronounced well. Flying as a passenger should present no great problem. Planes today are well pressurized and oxygen is always available if there is any need.

Many people who have never suffered with a heart attack need a considerable amount of time to adjust themselves to a high altitude. There may be some dizziness, palpitation and hyperventilation (over-breathing).

Even those in good health may be distressed by this. People who have had a heart attack may be emotionally upset, which would, of course, add to the discomfort.

I would not undertake a holiday in a high altitude unless specific consent is given by your doctor.

I finally acknowledge the fact that I'm a neurotic. I can't afford individual treatment. Group therapy has been suggested. Is this just a fad? Or is it worthwhile?

Dear Mr. M.:

Group psychotherapy is not a passing fad. The technique has become a valuable addition to the whole field of psychotherapy. Many psychotherapists who treat individual patients devote one or more evenings a week to this group activity.

The key to its value lies in choosing a well-trained therapist who can properly guide and direct his patients.

There are many advantages to group therapy besides the economical one. Many patients in a group setting can reduce by many months the attainment of the benefits of psychotherapy.

To find a well-trained person, one's own doctor should be consulted. Only in this way can one be assured that he is not becoming involved with inadequate, self-styled "experts."

Mr. C.M., Mich.

Phoenix Missile Lost From Sunken Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. research submarine is plumbing the depths of the North Atlantic, looking for a sophisticated Phoenix missile that broke free when a Navy F14 fighter rolled off a carrier more than a month ago.

The Navy had announced Thursday that the missile was still attached to the F14 when the plane was found in 1,900 feet of water. A day later, red-faced officials disclosed that the missile "is not attached to the aircraft as originally believed."

The Navy said a research submarine is continuing to search for the missile about 75 miles northwest of Scaapa Flow, Scotland. Other U.S. ships will be called in to raise the F14 from the ocean floor. The plane, loaded with sophisticated electronic equipment, was reported lying on its back.

Naval officials said two civilian salvage ships leased by the Navy have left Scotland to assist in the search for the missile. One of them carries an unmanned minisubmarine equipped with television cameras.

The F14 fell overboard from the carrier John F. Kennedy on Sept. 14.

The Navy began searching for the plane on Sept. 23 and predicted success within three days. A tug scanned the water with sonar for three weeks without results. On Oct. 15 the sonar located what appeared to be the F14 and a recovery vehicle was sunk in an attempt to pull up the craft.

But the recovery vehicle developed electrical problems and had to be removed for repairs.

On Thursday, the crew of a nuclear-powered Navy minisubmarine equipped with portholes for viewing and able to dive much deeper than larger submarines verified the object was the F14, but salvage will have to wait until the underwater recovery vehicle is repaired and returned to the scene.

Attention focused on the loss of the F14 and its Phoenix missile because Soviet ships were in the area at the time and some U.S. officials were concerned they might try to recover the plane, one of this country's most advanced.

EPA Issues Chemical Standards

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency has issued final standards to control emissions of vinyl chloride, a cancer-causing chemical.

EPA said the standards will require 58 plants to spend an estimated $198 million to build controls to cut emissions of the chemical. The expenses are expected to increase the price of vinyl chloride about 7.3 per cent and the prices of consumer products made from it by a maximum of about 3.5 per cent.

Vinyl chloride and related chemicals are widely used in plastics, where they are not considered hazardous.

But in their pure chemical form, these compounds are believed to cause a rare and fatal form of liver cancer, and other serious diseases.

Vinyl chloride is the fourth substance designated by EPA as a "hazardous air pollutant," joining asbestos, beryllium and mercury which were cited in 1973.

The final standards, announced Thursday, limit plant emissions vinyl chloride to no more than 10 parts per million in air or in water discharges.

The regulations gave the 58 manufacturing plants 90 days to comply, but EPA may grant waivers of up to two years if necessary.

The standards, essentially unchanged from their original proposal in 1975, are intended to reduce vinyl chloride emissions more than 90 percent from their 1974 levels.

Republican
Fish Fry
Is Thursday

THOMAS VAN METER

The Pickaway County Republican Rally and Fish Fry will be held Thursday at the Fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building, it was announced today by Guy O. Sark, Republican County Chairman.

State Senator Thomas A. Van Meter of Ashland, will be the speaker for the event. Van Meter has represented the 19th District in the Ohio Senate since November 1972. He served on the Judiciary, Education and Welfare, and Energy-Environment Committees of the Senate.

He served as a U.S. Army Combat Infantry Officer in Viet Nam.

Senator Van Meter, a graduate of Ashland College, has served as Executive Committee Chairman of Ashland County Republican Party.

The rally is being sponsored by the County Executive Committee and the Young Republican Club.

Representatives from the Ohio President Ford's Committee and of Senator Robert Taft and Congressman William Harsha will speak in behalf of those candidates. Local candidates will address the rally as to the offices they seek.

Serving will be from 5 to 7 p.m. with the program to follow. Tickets will be available at the door or at the Republican Headquarters, 114 N. Court St.

Medicaid
Cuts Eased

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State welfare officials say there won't be many cutbacks in the state's Medicaid program, thanks to additional legislative funding.

Director Kwegyir Aggrey said Friday some limitations will be made Nov. 1, but they are not believed to be critical.

Cutbacks were avoided when the General Assembly approved a $160 million Medicaid financing measure in a special session in September.

Aggrey said the additional money eliminates the need for copayments for Medicaid recipients and the 12 per cent reductions planned for nursing homes and outpatient hospital facilities.

The dental program will continue unchanged and a proposed 50 per cent cutback in physician fees in outpatient hospitals has been dropped, he said. However, Aggrey said hospitalization coverage will be limited to medical need and will be subject to review, and payment for physician visits will be limited to four visits a month.

"We will continue with cost containment efforts in the Medicaid program but we will try to use methods that will affect the recipients as little as possible," Aggrey said.

Before relinquishing its claims on the Northwest Territory, Virginia received a tract of military lands north of the Ohio River extending between the Scioto and the Miami Rivers. The land was used to reward Virginians for military service.—AP

Midwest Could Hold Key To National Election

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer

The industrial heartland, where President Ford is supposed to have his greatest strength and where the presidential election may very well be decided, is too close to call as the race enters the stretch drive.

"It's pretty much a toss-up all across this belt," said one top Ford strategist. "It's probably going to be decided in the last four days of the campaign."

An Associated Press survey of Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin, based on interviews with political and campaign leaders and the latest available polls, shows the race about even throughout the industrial Midwest.

These five states account for a total of 96 electoral votes of the 270 needed for election.

One of the things which makes predicting the Midwest difficult is the large concentration of East European ethnic voters and the still fluid situation created by Ford's statement in the second campaign debate that their ancestral homelands are not dominated by the Soviet Union.

Ford has admitted he made a mistake and reaffirmed his support of freedom for Eastern Europe, but the debate lingers on.

The Carter campaign claims spot surveys of Polish-American and Slavic-American communities in the Midwest indicate Ford's blooper may have boosted Carter support by as much as 20 per cent although the gain may prove temporary.

The Ford headquarters denies anything like a 20-point drop but concedes their own surveys showed erosion as much as 5 to 6 points. They say the President already has bounced back from what they now call a momentary setback.

Only Michigan, the President's home state, seems clearly in his favor at this point, and organized labor, marshalling solidly behind Democrat Jimmy Carter, promises to make it close even there.

Carter's best state in the area probably is Ohio, where one poll has shown him ahead by a dozen points, but a more recent poll by the Ford campaign gives the President a one-point lead.

Indiana, because of its Republican tradition in presidential elections, must be considered leaning toward Ford if anybody, but both sides see the race there as neck-and-neck.

Carter may have a slight lead in Wisconsin on the basis of objective appraisals, but this is tempered by the fact that the dairy state almost never votes Democratic in a presidential election.

In Illinois you can find polls going either way, but Carter probably has the edge. His best showing is the Chicago SunTimes straw poll which gives him a 55 to 45 lead over Ford.

Shadowing the picture in the Midwest, as in other large population states, is the presence of Eugene McCarthy as an independent candidate. In such states as Wisconsin and Illinois a strong McCarthy vote likely would throw the states to Ford and, because of the large number of electoral votes the states represent, possibly even the election.

When the campaign began in September Ford strategists felt they had to carry every one of these states if he was to keep his job. Now, hopes of picking off some Southern states have made this less crucial, but they still think Ford has to come away with a large share of the Midwest.

Because of his early lead, Carter's strategic choices have been broader, but his managers know they still must beat Ford somewhere in the Midwest if they are to oust him.

State-by-state here's how the Midwestern battleground looks:

MICHIGAN: This is Ford's homeground, which he represented as a congressman from Grand Rapids for 25 years, and the odds have to favor a native son and 21 electoral votes for Ford.

But Detroit has one of the largest concentrations of unionized workers in the country and an unemployment rate hovering around 10 per cent. The unions, splintered in 1972, are now solidly behind Carter, who also enjoys the support of a good state party organization.

Ford's biggest problem has been a lack of visibility in his homestate, although he formally opened his campaign there in September. But the Michigan organization is beginning to come around and put a dozen caravans on the road last week.

Carter's strongest area is Detroit and surrounding counties. He may be helped further now because of the 600,000 Polish Americans in the Detroit area.

Ford is strongest in the outstate rural areas, particularly the southwestern districts.

A private Carter poll showed him 9 points ahead during the Ford Motor Co., strike, but more recent polls by a private firm for President Ford and the Detroit news shows the President riding an 8 point lead.

OHIO: No Republican has ever been elected president without carrying Ohio and its 25 electoral votes. Ordinarily this would be a safe Republican state, but Carter has built up strength in the industrialized Cleveland and Toledo areas and parlayed it with support in the Appalachian southeast.

The ethnic issue may pinch Ford here, too. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., himself in a tight reelection race, was so concerned about the Eastern European gaffe that he called on Ford to come to Cleveland and clarify it. There are 440,000 Eastern European ethnics in Ohio.

Although there are signs that the traditional big farm vote is lining up with Ford there is still widespread resentment over grain export embargoes imposed by the Ford administration last year.

A Ford poll taken before the foreign policy debate showed him ahead by one percentage point in Ohio, but the Columbus Dispatch poll showed Carter 53 and Ford 41.

INDIANA: The Hoosier state, with its 13 electoral votes, is the home of Earl Butz, the agriculture secretary who resigned after being caught in some unprintable language slurring blacks. The farmers here adore Butz, especially the large grain producers who have prospered under his administration.

Butz's departure is likely to hurt Ford. Even if the farmers don't switch to Carter, they may just stay in the fields on election day. The black vote, already in Carter's corner, may be more highly motivated now.

Helping Ford in Indiana is company on the ballot from a popular Republican governor, Otis R. Bowen, and former Indianapolis Mayor Richard G. Lugar, who is running a strong race against Democratic Sen. Vance Hartke. On the other hand Ford was trounced here by Ronald Reagan in the Republican presidential primary.

Despite its bipartisan record, Indiana usually goes Republican in presidential elections. It is expected to go for Ford this year, although his campaign here is worried that Indiana may have been taken for granted. Going into the final days, neither Ford nor running mate Bob Dole had been in the state.

In mid-September, a Republican poll had Ford ahead of Carter by nine points in Indiana but observers on both sides think it is closer than that now.

ILLINOIS: Chicago has more citizens of Polish descent than any other city in the world except Warsaw, and also a concentration of Slavic-Americans. If the Eastern European thing is going to hurt Ford anywhere, it should be in the Chicago suburbs where Republicans have been making steady inroads into the ethnic vote.

The farm vote also may be affected by the loss of Butz, although it may be more an apathy problem than new Carter votes. But Carter has some following among the smaller farmers down-state.

Carter has the all-out support of Mayor Richard Daley's machine in Chicago. But Ford hopes for some coattail assistance from James Thompson who is running well ahead in the race for governor.

A Chicago Tribune poll gave Ford an early lead for the 26 Illinois electoral votes, but the Sun-Times poll went the other way to Carter by a big spread. The consensus is that it is very close.

WISCONSIN: The Ford organization is sending a million pieces of mail into the dairy state in the campaign windup, and Carter is matching it. Both sides see this as a critical state.

Wisconsin, with 11 electoral votes, has a liberal tradition, but has gone against an incumbent Republican president only once in this century, Herbert Hoover in 1932.

But Republicans are worrying over a disaffection among the state's farmers which they find hard to explain. Without a good farm vote it would be difficult for Ford to overcome Carter's expected strength in Madison, seat of the state university, and in the industrial belt running from Kenosha to Green Bay and including the metropolitan Milwaukee area. The state also has a high ethnic quotient which may be sensitive to the East European issue.

The difference could lie in a Democratic strategy, aided by powerful labor allies, which is concentrating on turning out Democratic voters. Republicans are trying the same tactic, although with not quite the organization Carter has.

Carter led by seven points in an early September poll, but a later survey by the Milwaukee Sentinel had Ford up by five.

Capital University Chapel Setting For Marriage Vows

MR. AND MRS. LANCE KIM JANSEN

The wedding of Miss Deborah Ann Heiskell and Mr. Lance Kim Jansen took place 7:30 p.m., Sept. 18, in the Chapel at Capital University, 2199 E. Main St., Columbus.

The Rev. Norman Mentor performed the double ring service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Heiskell Jr., 912 Circle Drive, Circleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Jansen, Cincinnati.

Hurricane lamps with yellow bows and tapers lined the center aisle of the chapel. The altar table held an arrangement of yellow gladioli and white mums, and was flanked with seven branch candelabra.

Miss Deborah Pfeleer, vocalist, sang "The Lord's Prayer," and "Wedding Song." Organist, Mr. William Haller, accompanied her and played selections preceding the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. For her wedding she selected a floor length gown of candlelight qiana designed with an empire bodice and scoop neckline. Pearl beading enhanced the neckline and cuffs on the long tapered sleeves. The redingote effect skirt flowed into a chapel length train. The bride's fingertip veil of silk illusion fell softly from a beaded camelot headpiece and she carried an arm bouquet of yellow and white roses with baby's breath.

Miss Janet Jordan was maid of honor in a gown of hunter green jersey knit designed with a shirred front bodice, V-neckline, short sleeves and a self-sash encircled the empire waistline and tied in the back forming streamers. The formal length circular skirt was shirred at the front.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Dan Davis, and Miss Sharon Heiskell was bridesmaid for her sister. They were gowned identically to the maid of honor. The attendants all carried arm bouquets of yellow roses with baby's breath.

Mr. Niels Jansen served his brother as best man. Ushers were Mr. Danny T. Chick and Mr. John Pugh of Columbus.

The bride's mother was attired in a blue and green pleated chiffon floor length gown. The bridegroom's mother chose a bronze long knit gown with full length sleeves. Purse corsages for both mothers were of cymbidium orchids.

A reception at Ilonka's in Columbus followed the ceremony. The tables were decorated with bouquets of fall flowers.

For her going-away costume the bride wore a three piece light green pantsuit. The couple now resides at 630 E. Churchill Ave., Columbus.

The bride graduated from Circleville High School and attended the Ohio State University. She is employed by Harry and Wendell Postle DDS.

The bridegroom graduated from Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind., and the Ohio State University with a degree in finance. He is auditor for the State of Ohio's Economic and Community Development Dept., Administration of Justice Division.

Legumes are a good source of protein; however, they are low in one of the essentials amino acids — the chemical building blocks of protein. Cereals have this amino acid in abundance. Therefore you can combine a legume with a grain (for example, red beans and rice) and have protein with the amino acids needed for good health.

Noecker-Pitea Engagement Is Announced

CATHY LYNN NOECKER

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Noecker, 1759 Ward Road, Ashville, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Cathy Lynn, to Lee A. Pitea Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Pitea, Harrington Park, N.J.

Miss Noecker was graduated from Teays Valley High School in 1973 and is currently a senior in fashion merchandising at the Ohio State University.

Mr. Pitea, a 1973 graduate of Englewood High School, is a senior in microbiology at the Ohio State University.

No definite plans have been made for the wedding.

UC Gift Used For Expenses

(CINCINNATI) — The University of Cincinnati will use a $1.4 million unrestricted gift from the estate of the late Herbert Greer French to absorb the one per cent subsidy cutback by the state, restore programs and pay debts, according to Lawrence Hawkins, senior vice president for operations.

Hawkins said the university, which was affiliated this year with the state university system, will lose $343,000 in the cut ordered by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

French died in 1942. The gift came from his estate.

50th ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. McCollister of Amanda, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary with an open house at Holiday Inn, Lancaster from 2-5 p.m., Nov. 7. Mr. McCollister and the former Garnet Whisler were married Nov. 6, 1926 in Huntington, W. Va. They are the parents of one daughter, Mrs. Max (Jean) Stebelton. There are three grandchildren and one great-grandson. Mr. McCollister retired in 1972 after serving 50 years in the public school system as a teacher and administrator. Both are members of Amanda United Methodist Church. The couple requests no gifts.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Should Reader Return Old Stolen Goods?

DEAR ABBY: How does one go about marketing a genuine Gutenberg Bible? It was stolen from a German museum during World War I by an American soldier who has been dead for many years.

Is it still considered "stolen goods"? Or is it possible to sell it legitimately?

HAVE ONE DEAR HAVE: Regardless of how long ago the article was stolen, it's still stolen property and cannot be sold legitimately. And since you know that it was stolen from a museum in Germany, you have a moral obligation to return it to the German government.

The German Embassy in Washington D.C., would deeply appreciate hearing from you. I urge you to contact them.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 19 and have a bum for a boyfriend. Ken and I love each other very much and plan on getting married some day, but I don't want a bum for a husband.

He's 25, but very immature in many ways. Ken has never kept a job for more than three months. He quits and lays around collecting unemployment. When I get on his back because I practically have to support him, he gets another job, but it never lasts very long.

When I lecture him about his laziness, he says if I really loved him, I wouldn't try to change him. Abby, I DO love him, but I don't want to support him the rest of his life.

I'm very ambitious. I've worked since I was 16, and keep getting promotions. What should I do? Say goodbye to the only guy I've ever loved, or accept him as he is and quit trying to change him?

"19 AND AMBITIOUS" DEAR "19": I think you really want to break up with Ken, but you want me to make the decision for you, which says something about your own immaturity. I can't see this "bum" being anything more than a bum, married or single. And until you can, don't waste any more time on him.

DEAR ABBY: May I comment on the American serviceman who wanted to marry a Korean girl? You advised him to talk to his Army chaplain.

That was a bum steer, for sure. I spent five years in Korea as an American G.I., and I've yet to see an Army chaplain who would help a G.I. marry a girl who wasn't round-eyed, Anglo-Saxon and Christian.

It's true that many Korean girls have faked love for American soldiers just to get a trip to America and citizenship, but they were mostly prostitutes. Many Korean girls are honest, hard-working and loving and far superior to American women in more ways than I can count. Sign this

MARRIED ONE

DEAR MARRIED: Don't bum-rap Army chaplains. They still provide the best counsel available for the G.I. overseas.

HELL FOR CERTAIN, Ky. (AP) — It was cold and dismal, the ground was frozen, and snow covered the roads when the bodies of 38 men killed in one of Kentucky's worst mining disasters were recovered nearly six years ago.

George Wooten, 60, was chief executive officer of Leslie County then. He sees parallels between that tragedy and the state's most recent mining disaster, which killed 26 men last March at Oven Fork.

Eleven men died last March 11 in an explosion in Scotia Coal Co.'s No. 1 mine at Oven Fork — two days after 15 men were killed in a blast in the same area of the pit. The bodies of the first 15 victims were brought out but the dead of the second blast were left inside and the shaft was sealed.

It was reopened July 14 and recovery teams have been inching toward the bodies 3½ miles inside the mountain since then. The bodies are located about 1,000 feet beneath the surface of Big Black Mountain at Oven Fork. Officials believe the bodies will be recovered some time next month.

Wooten, who notes that Hell For Certain, like Oven Fork and many other tiny mountain hamlets, is "just a place, not really a town," says memories of the explosion that killed 38 men in a mine at nearby Hyden on Dec. 30, 1970 are still vivid here in the hills of southeastern Kentucky.

And each time there is news about the Scotia victims, the memories become more vivid, he said.

"There are parallels," Wooten said in an interview. "It's an awfully bad time to dig graves for anybody. It's a problem we faced, and they'll have to face it, but the people, they'll manage."

Wooten, who served as Leslie County judge from 1962 until 1974, said it took about 24 hours to recover the victims of the explosion at the Finley Bros. mine at Hyden.

The fact that the bodies were recovered and the men buried in a short time helped end the ordeal more quickly for their relatives, and Wooten said he feels sorry for the widows and survivors of the 11 men whose bodies remain inside the Scotia mine.

"I think it will help the community and the people that have parents, brothers, their kids or friends in there, when they get the bodies out," Wooten said. "Just like anybody, people, all the families, sure want to see their bodies recovered if possible, that's the way the people feel, I think, over at the Scotia mine."

In any coal mine such as the one at Oven Fork, "it's always a possibility they may never get them out," Wooten said.

As county judge, Wooten, who plans to run for the same office again next year, was in charge of coordinating the recovery operation at the Hyden mine.

He said the community came together after that disaster and that "I think that'll happen down in Letcher County too."

HELPING HAND — Richard Plum of Circleville, center, presents an Ohio Easter Seal Helping Hand award for volunteer service to John F. Evans, left, manager, Ohio State Fair, at the society's recent annual meeting in Columbus. Plum was installed as president of the statewide organization that is comprised of 77 local affiliates, including the Pickaway County Easter Seal Society. At right is Loren Waaland of North Baltimore, president-elect. The Helping Hand award is the society's highest honor for volunteerism. Evans was saluted for his support of the annual State Fair Day for Crippled Children.

Mottl Considered Election Favorite

PARMA, Ohio (AP) — Grandstand political observers in the 23rd Congressional District are betting that Rep. Ronald M. Mottl will continue to pitch at the annual Democratic-Republican baseball game in Washington.

The freshman Democrat congressman, who once pitched in the minor leagues, is considered the favorite to retain his seat. But his Republican opponent, Michael Scanlon, doesn't think Mottl's option should be renewed.

"He wants to be a baseball player and I want to be a congressman," Scanlon says. "I can't see why we can't trade jobs."

The race promises to be less confusing than the one two years ago when Mottl got 36 per cent of the vote to narrowly beat two other opponents. The crew-cut Mottl is a former Parma council president, a state representative and senator, and he prides himself on having sponsored the bill creating the Ohio lottery.

Scanlon, 56, is a tax attorney in the Cleveland suburb of Rocky River. He was born in Ireland and he says that his entry into the race is a way of showing his appreciation for the country that has been so good to him.

He has held a variety of federal civil service jobs, including posts with the Internal Revenue Service, the U.S. Employment Services, Air Force procurement and the Veterans Administration.

Scanlon has criticized Mottl for not handling himself effectively in the federal bureaucracy. The Republican contends he is more conversant with such matters because of his experience.

Mottl prides himself on staying close to his community. He holds monthly meetings in his district and last month, for example, he took an active part in efforts to settle a Parma teachers strike. Scanlon admits that lack of recognition has been one of his major problems against Mottl.

Mottl has the backing of labor and he is expected to do best in Parma, a World War II boom town composed largely of ethnic groups which left Cleveland.

Both candidates oppose a metropolitan busing plan to achieve integration in schools. That possibility, although a remote one, was raised recently when a federal judge ordered an integration plan for the adjacent Cleveland school district.

Mottl favors a constitutional amendment to ban busing, but Scanlon favors a congressional act to ban it because this would be quicker.

Shallenberger Preserve To Open

COLUMBUS — Shallenberger State Nature Preserve in Fairfield County will be officially opened to the public at 10 a.m. Wednesday when Ohio Natural Resources Director Robert W. Teater unveils a plaque in memory of Jay M. Shallenberger, original owner of the area.

The 87-acre preserve is three miles west of Lancaster off U.S. Route 22. The preserve entrance is on Beck Knob Road, just north of the intersection of Beck Knob Road and U.S. Route 22.

The preserve property was donated to the Fairfield County Commissioners following Mr. Shallenberger's death in 1971. His desire to see the area both protected and open for public use was carried out by the County Commissioners when the property was transferred in 1973 to the Ohio Department of Natural Resources (ODNR).

It was then designated a scenic state nature preserve under provisions of the Ohio Natural Areas Act of 1970.

A feature of the preserve is Allen Knob, a Blackhand Sandstone promontory towering 240 feet above the surrounding countryside. Visitors may hike to the top of the knob for an impressive vista of the rolling plains of Ohio's central lowlands.

The area is rich in spring-blooming wildflowers and shrubs, especially the lovely mountain laurel growing on the knob. Bird watchers will find an abundance of songbirds throughout the spring and summer.

A system of hiking trails and a parking lot provide access to the preserve, which is administered by ODNR's Division of Natural Areas and Preserves.

Those attending the opening ceremony are invited to participate in an interpretive nature hike led by Division naturalists following the opening ceremony.

Sen. Collins Discusses Finances

State Senator Oakley C. Collins (R-Ironton) reports that State Budget Director William Wilkins recently held the Administration's seventh quarterly press conference. Ohio's financial picture is bad, but may be manageable if the Legislature uses restraint in spending.

A $21.9 million reduction in anticipated quarterly revenues due to a lagging economy and new expenditures mandated in HB 1546 changed projections for the year end balance from a $7 million surplus to a $20.6 million deficit.

This new situation made it necessary for Governor Rhodes to order an additional 1 per cent spending cutback by the state. The cut does not apply to debt payments, certain statutory obligations, and the Corrections and Welfare departments.

The state still faces serious cash flow problems till early spring. This has been lessened by a provision in HB 1546 that allows pooling of funds from several different state accounts.

However, fund pooling raises legal questions about the integrity of certain fund accounts. Budget Director Wilkins is waiting on a legal opinion from the Attorney General to clarify authority given him in HB 1546.

Bills signed by the Governor include HB 1465, funding for a public utility "people's counsel;" SB 545, reform of workmen's compensation; and HB 669 authorizing sale of the old Governor's mansion in Columbus.

The Governor vetoed HB 12, which would have established a civilian conservation corps. Governor Rhodes feels the funds are not available for the program right now, and the state should work to provide long term permanent jobs in the private sector rather than temporary public positions.

Teen Road Deaths Rise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Highway Safety Director Donald D. Cook has called for intensified efforts to reduce traffic deaths among teen-agers.

He cited statistics showing that 19 per cent of the drivers killed on Ohio highways during the first nine months of 1976 were 15 to 19 years old, compared to 18.7 per cent for the same period last year.

Cook said teen-agers are more inclined to speed and drive recklessly than other drivers.

Nine of the 12 teen-age fatalities from Oct. 1 to Oct. 17 were attributed to speeding, drinking, failure to yield, driving off the road and driving left of center.

"These statistics are an indication we must increase our efforts to keep our young people alive," he said. "It might be wise for parents to impose a sense of responsibility as a condition for driving a car and it may show even greater wisdom if parents assume responsibility for their own driving."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"NO PETS ALLOWED" says a printed line in your lease. But "dog okay" has been typed into a black space on the form. In case of a dispute with the landlord about Fido, which of these two conflicting clauses would the law recognize?

The second, typewritten clause, allowing you to keep Fido in your apartment.

Generally speaking, words that are inserted in a lease by typewriter, rubber stamp, or handwriting carry more weight than the printed language.

"(Inserted) words," explained one court, "are the immediate language selected by the parties themselves, while the printed form is intended for general use."

This is one of the rules the law invokes to achieve fairness in the interpretation of legal documents. Here is another:

In case of ambiguity, the lease is interpreted against the party who drew it up — usually the landlord. For example:

A woman's one-year lease on an apartment mentioned an option-to-renew, but did not say for how long. The landlord pointed out this omission in trying to evict her at the end of the first year.

But the court ruled that the woman was entitled to another one-year term. The court said the tenant should get the benefit of the doubt since the landlord, having provided the lease, was more to blame for the lack of clarity.

Of course this does not mean that the printed portions of a lease can be blithely ignored. If the language is clear, and not in conflict with inserted words, it will ordinarily be enforced. The fact that you just didn't bother to read it is not an excuse in the eyes of the law.

As one court warned: "Signatures to obligations are not mere ornaments."

Man Given Life Term

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Charles Arnold, 41, Dayton, who was identified as the driver of the getaway car in the December, 1974 robbery slaying of a Middletown paint store clerk, has been sentenced to life in prison.

Butler County Common Pleas Court Judge Robert L. Marrs imposed the sentence at a special hearing Friday after a jury had earlier returned a verdict of aggravated murder which can carry a death sentence.

Arnold's attorneys contended Arnold had been the driver and had not entered the Pittsburgh Paint Store in December, 1974 when Michael Carter, 28, Franklin was shot to death.

Three other Dayton men were arrested. Henry Crosetti Harris, 37, is scheduled for a second trial Nov. 16 after his first one ended in a hung jury. Donald Smith, 34, was found innocent and charges against James Stephens, 31, were dropped by the prosecution.

Friendships End In Blazing Crash

MILLER CITY, Ohio (AP) — Mary Kay Hermiller and Mary Lou Niese shared first names, a class office and a close friendship.

On Tuesday, the 16-year-olds will be buried together, two of the victims of a weekend traffic accident which also killed three of their classmates.

Miss Hermiller of Ottawa and Miss Niese of Leipsic were passengers in a car driven by Marilyn Verhoff, 16, of Leipsic. Authorities say the vehicle apparently slid through a stop sign near this rural Putnam County village and collided with a car driven by Dennis Lammers, 16, also of Leipsic.

Dennis and his 15-year-old brother, Tony, were killed when their car burst into flames.

School officials said the students were on their way home from a high school dance early Saturday when the accident occurred.

Richard Barlage, a member of the Miller City-New Cleveland school board, who lives near the intersection, was one of the first persons on the scene. He said he heard one of the boys screaming for help.

"I was just lying in bed and I heard a bang," Barlage said. "I ran down and got one of them (Tony Lammers) out, but I couldn't get the other one. I had ahold of him, but he must have been tangled in the wreckage."

"They were all good kids," principal William Lammers said. He is not related to the dead brothers.

Dennis Recker, a guidance counselor at the northwestern Ohio high school of 230 students, described the teen-agers as average or above average academically. "They all had goals they wanted to meet."

All victims but Tony Lammers, who was a sophomore, were among the 65 members of the junior class.

Miss Hermiller was a varsity cheerleader and class president. Miss Niese was vice president. The three girls were members of the school choir, Girls Athletic Association and Future Homemakers of America.

The Lammers brothers were members of Future Farmers of America and played on school basketball teams.

"The impact probably has not hit me yet," said Supt. Clyde Kreinbrink. "It's going to be hard to go to the funeral home, but it's something that's got to be done."

Kreinbrink canceled classes today and Tuesday so students could attend services for their classmates.

The Lammers brothers and Miss Verhoff will be buried following separate services today. A joint funeral service is scheduled Tuesday for Miss Niese and Miss Hermiller.

Harsha Mobile Office To Be In Kingston

Congressman William H. Harsha's mobile district office will be in Kingston on Wednesday. The van will be located across from the Post Office. Office hours will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Harsha's district representative, Bill Fawley, will be available to assist Sixth District Residents seeking help with problems and projects involving the Federal Government.

Those seeking such assistance should bring with them all pertinent information such as Social Security or Veterans Administration numbers and correspondence.

Merit Cigarette Sets New Taste Standard.

'Enriched Flavor'TM breakthrough brings unprecedented taste to low tar smoking.

Today there's a way to get real taste from a cigarette without high tar.

That's the report on a new taste discovery called 'Enriched Flavor.' A way to pack flavor—extra flavor—into tobacco without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

The cigarette packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco is remarkable new MERIT.

If you smoke, you'll be interested.

Tests Verify Taste

In tests involving thousands of smokers of filter cigarettes, the majority reported © Philip Morris Inc. 19769 mg. "tar," 0.7 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

MERIT delivered more taste than five current leading low tar cigarettes having all the way up to 60% more tar.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, MERIT MENTHOL was reported to deliver as much—or more—taste than the higher tar brands tested.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough.

Now smoke the cigarette.

Mondale, Glenn Seek Big Turnout

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ohio must go Democratic in next week's presidential election to put Jimmy Carter in the White House, vice presidential nominee Walter Mondale told Cleveland area Democrats here Sunday.

Mondale and Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, made four appearances in the Cleveland area, each stressing that the Buckeye State could be the turning point in the presidential election.

"This is a tight election," Mondale said at a $100-a-plate Cuyahoga County Democratic dinner attended by about 1,100 persons. "The state of Ohio is very close. We've got to win this election in Ohio."

"It may very well be that what this country decides on the presidency will be determined by the State of Ohio. It's that simple," Mondale said.

At stops in Cleveland, Lorain, Mayfield and Independence, the two Democratic leaders stressed the message to party workers: They must bring out the vote on Nov. 2.

Glenn told a Democratic rally in Lorain that most other states have already fallen into one candidate's column or the other. Few states remain undecided, he said, but Ohio is one of them and its 25 electoral votes could make the difference.

"The get-out-the-vote effort here may well determine whether this election goes to Carter-Mondale or not," Glenn said. "Ohio can be critical in this election this year, and that's just not campaign talk."

"Get your neighbors and other people out that can swing Ohio into the Carter column," he said.

Mondale's campaign swing on a dreary, drizzly day in the lakeshore city was marred by transportation problems which left him well behind schedule and forced speakers to cut short their remarks.

At one point, the Mondale caravan was forced to detour through a shopping center parking lot when it missed a turnoff. At another point, the caravan became snarled in the traffic of fans leaving the Cleveland Browns football game.

But at each stop, Mondale was greeted by partisan fans shouting encouragement.

Volunteers For Youth Hear Reports

Six members of the Board of Trustees of Pickaway County Volunteers for Youth met October 17 at the YMCA at 4:30 p.m.

President Diane Berger reported that she and Volunteer Coordinator Ramona Edman had attended an October 16 workshop at Ohio State University on volunteerism. The Workshop, while not totally concerned with juvenile court volunteers, was helpful according to Ms. Berger. She suggested that perhaps volunteer Pete Sobataka would like to attend an upcoming workshop on evaluation since he has expressed interest in that area. The board agreed that he should be invited to attend.

The question of providing insurance coverage for volunteers was reopened for discussion. It was decided, due to lack of response from the agency contacted and little interest in the coverage on the part of volunteers, to drop the matter.

Ms. Edman reported that there are currently 13 volunteers working actively on a one-to-one basis with juvenile probationers and 2 applications pending. She also expressed her appreciation for the efforts made by Pat Ayers of Circleville Cablevision Associates to bring to the public the Volunteers for Criminal Justice series which ended October 14. She noted that he had spent a great deal of time in the evenings making the necessary preparations for the 12-part series to be broadcast.

Board members present besides Ms. Berger and Ms. Edman were Dieter Droste, Tom Downing, Barbara Harrison, and Marsha Schneider.

SALT CREEK GRANGE

At the October 19 session of Salt-creek Valley Grange, the master Hoyt Timmons extended appreciation to the C. W. A. committee for an excellent job the past year. Members of the committee are: Gladys Hedges and Virginia Mann, co-chairmen, Mary Clark, Mary DeLong, Alma McKenzie and Rebecca Timmons.

Mrs. Hedges thanked all those who helped the committee with food service at the Hockman sale.

A token contribution was approved for Orley Judy in recognition for his many custodial services at the Wolfe Grange Hall in Tarlton.

Thank you messages were read from the state master for cooperation during the Bicentennial year, and from the Central Ohio Psychiatric Hospital for monetary aid in sending residents to State Fair.

Donna Beougher reminded fellow members to bring gifts for Christmas for residents of Chillicothe's Veteran's Hospital at the Nov. 2 meeting which will begin 7:30 p.m. A contribution was voted for the Pickaway County Grange Youth for their efficient help with installation services and plans were discussed for continued improvements for the Grange Hall. Wayne Cryder assisted with an explanation of the seven Constitutional Amendment Issues for the November Ballot.

"Share, Compare, and Identify" was the theme of the program supervised by Leora Sayre. A special highlight was recognition of October as Pork Month.

Pork was included in the refreshments served by Wilma and Francis Fraunfelter and Virginia and Ray Mann.

Ohio will be much colder tonight as the mercury drops into the 30s. Colder air moving across the relatively warmer waters of Lake Erie Tuesday will cause some light flurries to form and spread across most of the state. Afternoon readings Tuesday will remain generally in the 40s.

The early morning hours were chilly and damp today. Readings across the state were mainly in the 40s and the lower 50s with some light rain reported.

A cold front was moving slowly out of southern Ohio around daybreak and was to cause some colder air to spread into Ohio during the next day or so.

A few light sprinkles or drizzle was to persist today and temperatures were to continue with chilly highs in the 40s and the 50s.

British Pound Starts New Slide

LONDON (AP) — The British pound dropped seven cents to a new record low of $1.5765 on the London foreign exchange today.

The sudden drop in less than an hour of hectic trading followed a report in the Sunday Times that the International Monetary Fund wants the British currency to fall to $1.50 before permitting Britain to draw $3 billion to help the country in its gravest economic crisis since the Great Depression of the 1930s.

"The market is very nervous," one dealer reported.

Sterling closed at $1.6481 on Friday and was quoted at $1.6150 when the market opened today.

LOGAN ELM DRAWING — The graphic design was drawn by Joe Scanlan, a sophomore at Logan Elm High School. According to Bill Chandler, Logan Elm art teacher, the picture is a value concept to create solid form. The black and white drawing was done with varying size circle in the image of a woman's face. This was published in School Arts, a magazine that is distributed to 31,000 schools in the United States. The true measurements of Scanlan's art is 14 by 18 inches.

Arab Summit Meet To Ratify Truce

CAIRO (AP) — Arab presidents and kings are opening a summit conference to ratify the latest cease-fire agreement in the Lebanese civil war and to try to figure out how to make it work.

Today's meeting of the 21 Arab League members was called to approve the peace agreement reached last Monday in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, and to make plans for the 30,000-man Arab peacekeeping force provided for in the agreement.

The cease-fire was supposed to take effect throughout Lebanon last Thursday morning. But Christian forces have continued their drive to clear the Palestinians from the Arkoub area of southeast Lebanon, along the Israeli border.

The Christians said the Palestinians would not be allowed back in the border zone from which they raided Israel before the civil war began. But that violates a key provision of the Riyadh pact, which calls for observance of the 1969 Cairo agreement restricting the Palestinian guerrillas in Lebanon to their refugee camps and the Arkoub.

Israel also has vowed that it will not allow the guerrillas to return to their former bases in the border area. It has been supplying arms to the Christian forces north of the border.

A Christian militia commander on the Lebanese-Israeli frontier, Louis Hasrouni, told a reporter that the Arab leaders were putting up a front when they talked about enforcing the 1969 Cairo agreement.

"It's all just talk," he said. The Riyadh meeting was attended by Yasir Arafat of the Palestine Liberation Organization, the presidents of Syria, Lebanon and Egypt, and the rulers of Saudi Arabia and Kuwait.

The agreement in effect approved Syria's military intervention in the Lebanese war to prevent the Christians being overrun by the Palestinians and their leftist Lebanese Moslem allies. Because of this, Libya is boycotting the Cairo summit, and Iraq sent its foreign minister instead of its president.

Accidents Hurt Five People

Five people were injured in three Pumpkin Show-related accidents last weekend, according to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Sharon Tatman, 27, Route 1, Kingston, was treated at Berger Hospital's emergency room for neck and back injuries she suffered in a two-car accident 11:52 a.m. Saturday on Route 23, two-tenths of a mile north of County Road 511.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Janet D. Tatman, 24, Route 2, Amanda, according to Deputy Sheriff Jim Deal.

Driver of the other car was Lillian M. Wilkins, 63, Route 1, Orient.

According to Deputy Deal, Ms. Wilkins struck the rear of the Tatman car, which was stopped in traffic in the passing lane of Route 23.

Ms. Wilkins, who said her brakes failed, was charged with failing to maintain assured clear distance.

Ten-year-old Gary A. Caldwell was treated at Berger Hospital's emergency room for contusions to his left knee following a two-car accident 12:20 p.m. Sunday on Route 22, one-tenth of a mile west of Mill Road.

He was a passenger in a car driven by James E. Whaley, 72, Route 3, Circleville.

Driver of the other car was Lee Spurgeon, 17, Jeffersonville.

Deputies said Spurgeon was driving east on Route 22 and approaching several slow moving vehicles.

He apparently applied his brakes, but slid left of center and hit the Whaley car. Spurgeon was charged with failing to stay on the right side of the road.

Three people were hurt in a two-car accident 2:35 p.m. Saturday on E. Front St. in New Holland.

The injured, Virginia F. Carroll, 44, Route 1, Clarksburg, Linda M. Van Reeth, 28, Dayton, and Candace A. Karns, 30, Springfield, were all referred to doctors for treatment of minor injuries, according to Deputy Dan Dewey.

The accident occurred when Ms. Carroll pulled her car from an alley into the path of the Van Reeth auto, which was driving east on E. Front St.

Ms. Carroll told Deputy Dewey that her view was blocked by parked cars.

Eleven people escaped injuries in a three-car pileup on the Scioto River Bridge on Route 22 2:05 p.m. Saturday.

According to the report, a car driven by Marilyn Spangler, 35, Dayton, failed to slow for traffic in the bridge and hit the rear of a car driven by John Roberts, 17, Route 1, New Holland.

The Roberts car, in turn, was forced into the rear of a car driven by Jacob L. Durbin, 62, Dayton.

There were no citations issued by Deputy Jim Deal.

Yellowjackets Hit By Hard Freeze

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If hornets or yellowjackets where you live caused problems during the summer, you can start to relax. They have just about reached the end of the road.

Hornet and yellowjacket populations die off after the first hard freeze, leaving only the queen, which hibernates in the papier-mache like nest.

If you want to eliminate the problems of hornets and yellowjackets next year, the queen must be killed. This can be done after a freeze by removing the nest—usually attached to a branch—and putting it in a plastic bag with moth crystals for two or three weeks. The fumes penetrate the nest, killing the queen.

19 Road Deaths; 12 Under Age 20

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a grim weekend for young people on Ohio's highways, with 12 of the 19 victims of traffic accidents being under the age of 20.

One smashup in Putnam County killed five teen-agers Saturday and another in Hardin County claimed the lives of two youngsters Friday night.

The dead:

SUNDAY

GALLIPOLIS — Timothy Richie, 19, rural Gallipolis, when his car ran off Ohio 7 in Gallipolis and slammed into a pole.

FINDLAY — Nancy Watkins, 30, Fostoria, when her car ran off a Hancock County road and slammed into a bridge abutment south of Fostoria.

TOLEDO — Angela A. Miller, 3, Toledo, in a three-car accident on a city street.

EATON — Michael O. Johnson, 16, Hamilton, in a two-car crash on a Preble County road.

STEBUNVILLE — Gary A. Bess, 22, Rayland, in a single-car crash on U.S. 250 in Jefferson County.

HAMILTON — Otis J. McNew, 33, Hamilton, in a one-car accident on a Butler County road.

Ford Said Negative President

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Ford is a "negative man" whose administration is dealing uncertainly with America's problems, New York Gov. Hugh Carey told the Federated Democratic Women of Ohio as they closed a two-day convention here.

Carey, elected in 1974, told the more than 250 delegates Saturday that "you suffer from many of the same problems as afflict New York."

He said "Ohio is one of the low priority states" in terms of federal dollars reaching the state, repeating a campaign theme of Howard Metzenbaum in his bid to unseat Sen. Robert Taft Jr.

"Uncertainty in Washington causes our chronic ills," said Carey, who became governor in 1974.

Carey repeated many of the issues stressed by the Democratic ticket of Jimmy Carter and Walter Mondale, including jobs, the federal debt and corporate profits.

"The people in Washington believe they can fight high prices by deliberately putting people out of work," Carey said.

He added that "the leadership in Washington watched complacently while corporate profits rose and prices for goods we need went right through the ceiling."

In the eight years they have controlled the White House, Carey said, the Republicans have "built the largest debt in our history."

Rhodesian Blacks Seek Coalition

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Four black Rhodesian leaders gathered in Geneva today to try to paper over their rivalries before starting negotiations with Prime Minister Ian Smith on Thursday.

Robert Mugabe, who says he speaks for most of the guerrillas battling Smith's white-minority government, and Joshua Nkomo, who runs the best-organized black political machine in Rhodesia, arrived Sunday. They said they hoped to bring Bishop Abel Muzorewa and the Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole into the "Patriotic Front" they have formed.

Muzorewa, Nkomo's rival for the remnants of a nationalist coalition called the African National Council, and Sithole, who founded the Zimbabwe African National Union (ZANU) which Mugabe now claims to control, were due today.

Mugabe and Nkomo vowed in arrival statements to step up the guerrilla war in Rhodesia unless there is a swift and complete transfer of power from the country's 278,000 whites to its 6.4 million blacks.

Both rejected Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's plan for a bi-racial interim government for two years headed by a white and with the whites retaining control of the military forces and the police. Nkomo said the plan was "inoperative."

BancOhio Receives Orion Stock

BancOhio and its principal subsidiary, BancOhio-Ohio National Bank of Columbus, announced receipt of 562,058 shares of common stock of Orion Capital Corporation, the reorganized company formed after the failure of Equity Funding Corporation of America in 1973.

The stock was received as a result of the Trustee's Plan of Reorganization of Equity Funding Corporation. Orion Capital is a holding company with its two principal assets being Bankers National Life Insurance Company of Parsippany, New Jersey and Northern Life Insurance Company of Seattle, Washington.

The 562,058 shares represent approximately 7 per cent of Orion Capital's outstanding shares and make BancOhio and BancOhio-Ohio National jointly the second largest shareholder of Orion Capital. Spokesmen for the two companies said that some additional cash recovery from the Equity Funding estate and from the pending settlement of law suits against accountants and others was expected; but declined to speculate on the dollar amount of such recovery.

Orion Capital recently reported net earnings for the second quarter of $1,450,704, 26 per cent ahead of the first quarter and 54 per cent ahead of the second quarter of a year ago.

WE were stopped by the Ohio State Highway Patrol Sunday night coming back from Columbus after delivering our daughter to Ohio State University. And we were thankful. Our tail lights were not functioning.

Trooper G. Richardson quickly diagnosed our trouble as a blown fuse and by wrapping a bit of aluminum foil around the guilty critter enabled us to get home safely. He did want us to correspond with him and so he gave us a post card to be signed by the person who replaced the fuse.

ABOUT thirty Pickaway County residents have expressed an interest in participating in a special swine flu clinic, according to the County Health Department.

However, more interest is sought before the clinic can be held.

The clinic would be designed to inoculate older citizens or those termed "high-risk" by their physicians, against Swine Flu and A Victoria Flu.

The Department sponsored three days of clinics received a good response. However, attendance was believed held down by nationwide publicity falsely attributing deaths of elderly citizens to the inoculations.

Recently released evidence claims there is no evidence whatsoever to indicate the vaccinations caused deaths.

Persons interested in receiving their immunizations should contact the health department at 474-8861.

Heavy Snow Blankets Northwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Travel advisories were issued for the Cascade Mountains in Washington and Oregon today as a new storm system brought snow to the Pacific Northwest.

The storm also was to affect travelers in Utah, where four inches of snow were expected in some mountain areas.

Thunderstorms in the South resulted in flash flood warnings and watches. The warnings for central Arkansas expired early today, but a flash flood watch was continued over part of south Texas.

Showers and thunderstorms extended from Oklahoma and eastern Texas to Alabama and Tennessee. Rain also fell in the lower Great Lakes area and along the Atlantic coast from Georgia to New England.

Scattered snow flurries were reported in the upper Mississippi Valley and upper Great Lakes region. Temperatures around the nation early today ranged from 15 degrees at Minot, N.D., to 76 at Key West, Fla.

Today's forecast called for rain in Atlantic coast states, except Florida. Rain also was likely in the eastern Great Lakes area, the southern half of the Ohio Valley, the Southeastern, the lower Mississippi Valley and the Texas gulf coast.

Snow was forecast for northern Maine.

A chance of showers was predicted for much of the Northern Plateau and the northern Rockies.

Chinese Applaud Mao's Successor

HONG KONG (AP) — Hua Kuo-feng, appearing relaxed and confident, made his first public appearance as China's new leader before a million Chinese in Peking, who cheered him and applauded condemnations of his radical rivals.

The rally Sunday was staged in the great square before the Tien An Men — the Gate of Heavenly Peace. China-watchers in Hong Kong studying a telecast were struck by the predominance of military uniforms.

Hua, elected to succeed Mao Tse-tung as chairman of the Chinese Communist party — China's highest office — wore a military uniform himself. This was considered a possible indication of the present importance of the military, who outnumber civilians on the party Politburo seven to five.

Observers in Hong Kong also noted that Hua and the other leaders smilingly chatted among themselves while speakers denounced Mao's widow, Chiang Ching, and three other radical members of the Politburo. This was in marked contrast to the rigid formality of similar rallies at which Mao presided.

Hua was flanked on the rostrum by Defense Minister Yeh Chien-ying, 77, and Vice Premier Li Hsien-nien, 71, considered the man most likely to succeed Hua as premier. However, a Peking broadcast of the rally continued to identify Hua by the title of premier as well as the two new ones he inherited from Mao, party chairman and head of the party's military commission.

The announcer on the telecast frequently coupled Hua and Yeh together, leading to speculation that the two might head a collective leadership.

This speculation was reinforced by the absence of any expression from the throng of wishes for a long life for Hua, who is 57. Observers said this could be due to a desire on Hua's part to discourage attempts to build a personality cult around him.

Hua did not speak at the rally. The chief speaker was the mayor of Peking, Wu Teh, who told the crowd that Mao before his death on Sept. 9 personally selected Hua to succeed him as chairman of the party.

Wu said shortly after Mao named Hua premier and first deputy party chairman last April, "Chairman Mao wrote to comrade Hua Kuo-feng in his own handwriting, 'With you in charge, I'm at ease,' which expressed his boundless trust in comrade Hua Kuo-feng."

Wu said the "gang of four" — Chiang Ching and her three radical allies on the Politburo — tried to thwart Mao's wishes by making Miss Chiang the party chairman.

"While Chairman Mao was seriously ill and after he passed away," Wu continued, "the antiparty clique of Wang Hungyien, Chang Chun-chiao, Chiang Ching and Yao Wen-yuan hastily seized the opportunities and attempted to usurp top party and state leadership."

But Wu said the party central committee headed by Hua acted "at the critical moment," and the course of events shows "Chairman Mao has a worthy successor and our party once again has a leader of its own in Chairman Hua Kuo-feng."

Medi-Pet Available In California Area

LOS ALTOS, Calif. (AP) — Do the sometimes beastly costs of medical care for cats and dogs have you climbing a tree? A program called Medi-Pet is offering health insurance for animals.

Medi-Pet is available now only to pet owners in six counties in the San Francisco Bay area. But Paul E. Murray, the man who created it, predicts it eventually will be offered nationwide.

"My dream is to be able to expand it around the world," Murray declared in an interview. He said the program has been in existence about a year and has more than a hundred subscribers.

Insurance is available only to cats and dogs between the ages of 16 months and 7 years. Murray said the older and younger pets aren't accepted because they are more vulnerable to disease.

For one pet, the owner pays a $68 annual premium, but the cost per pet is lower if more than one animal is covered. If the insured pet is injured or gets sick, its owner can take it to one of 25 to 30 affiliated veterinary hospitals in the area.

"For example, one of our members owns a St. Bernard who had all four legs broken when it was hit by a bus," said Murray, a former Bank of America vice president. "The cost of the dog's treatment was $880, and it was fully covered by the plan."

There can be additional costs. For example, if an animal requires surgery, the owner is billed $4. Routine checkups are included in the program.

Murray said everyone gains from the Medi-Pet project. He said it means better health for pets, savings for pet owners, and more business for veterinarians, who he estimates currently operate at 65 to 70 per cent of capacity. Murray said he's not making any profits yet, but hopes to.

Murray, himself the owner of a 13-year-old Siamese cat, said many of the 60,000 dogs and cats that are destroyed each day would be kept by their owners except for the cost of medical care.

Another feature of the MediPet plan is Animalert. A 10-digit number is painlessly imprinted on the animal's ear. The number is recorded in Animalert's computer, and if the pet is lost, the SPCA or local pound can call Animalert with the number to trace the pet owner.

On Sept. 11, 1814, during the War of 1812, a British force 14,000 strong was turned back from northern New York by 4,000 Americans.

On June, 7, 1776, Richard Henry Lee introduced in the Continental Congress a resolution that "these united colonies are and of right out to be free and independent states."

Urge Priority System For Police Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police department could save money without losing public support by letting citizens know they're going to have to wait longer for a response to some completed crimes, a study suggests.

"It has traditionally been assumed that rapid police response to calls for service is of sufficient importance to justify the expenditure of considerable amounts of money and effort," a report by the Police Foundation said Sunday.

A call about a burglary in progress obviously demands an immediate response, the study said. But a call to report a burglary that took place hours ago does not, the study said.

And people who make the second type of call probably would not object to being told they'll have to wait half an hour, instead of expecting a squad car to arrive almost immediately, the report said.

The foundation, a nonprofit group formed to study police problems, made the report after compiling a survey of police activity in Kansas City, Mo., in 1973.

Foundation president Patrick V. Murphy and Kansas City Police Chief Joseph D. McNamara both said the report had "important implications" for urban police departments that are increasingly facing budget crises.

"One thing is certain," the report said. "City budget stringencies will continue pressure for more selective use of resources."

If the public were trained to accept slower responses to nonemergency calls, police departments could switch some money to more vital areas, it concluded.

Cowboys Top Bears; Staubach Out

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

The Dallas Cowboys survived a scare and lost a quarterback, albeit temporarily, against the Chicago Bears.

Roger Staubach, the Cowboys' durable star, went out of action in the third period Sunday with a fractured little finger on his passing hand when he was hit by Bear linebacker Mike Hartenstein. Danny White, a refugee from the World Football League, replaced him and promptly hit Preston Pearson with a 15-yard touchdown pass for a 24-7 Dallas lead.

Even without Staubach, Coach Tom Landry figured the situation was well in hand. But it wasn't.

"This was an incredible game," said Landry after Dallas eventually won 31-21. "How we ever got in jeopardy of losing I'll never know."

Elsewhere in the NFL, Minnesota remained undefeated with a 31-12 victory over Philadelphia, Cincinnati whipped Houston 27-7, Miami edged Tampa Bay 23-20, Baltimore blanked the New York Jets 20-0, Pittsburgh shut out the New York Giants 27-0, Oakland held off Green Bay 18-14, New England beat Buffalo 26-22, Denver topped Kansas City 35-26, Cleveland downed San Diego 21-17, Los Angeles got by New Orleans 16-10 and Detroit mauled Seattle 41-14.

San Francisco dumped Atlanta 15-0 in a Saturday night contest. St. Louis visits Washington tonight.

Chicago linebacker Ross Brubacher got the Bears back in the game when he intercepted a White pass and returned it 25 yards before lateraling to Hartenstein who went the final 12 yards for a touchdown. Then Virgil Livers ran back a punt 51 yards to set up Johnny Musso's two-yard TD run and it was 24-21.

Not to worry. White came back with a 54-yard toss to Golden Richards to set up the final Dallas score, a six-yard White-to-Pearson pass, and Dallas had its sixth victory in seven games.

Vikings 31, Eagles 12
Fran Tarkenton brought Minnesota from behind with a 35-yard touchdown pass to rookie Sammie White in the third quarter and Chuck Foreman added TD runs of 32 and two yards as the Vikes raised their record to 5-0-1. Tarkenton hit on 23 of 33 tosses for 249 yards to become the second man in NFL history to pass the 40,000-yard mark in passing yardage. He needs 91 yards to top all-time leader John Unitas. Foreman wound up with 28 carries for 200 yards — a club record.

Bengals 27, Oilers 7
Ken Anderson and John Reaves threw one TD pass apiece as Cincinnati took sole possession of first place in the American Conference Central Division. The Bengal defense held Houston to just 28 yards rushing and sacked Oiler quarterback Dan Pastorini six times.

Dolphins 23, Bucs 20
Miami needed a 29-yard field goal by Gato Yepremian with 55 seconds left to edge cross-state rival Tampa Bay. The Dolphins built a 20-7 lead on short TD runs by Bennie Malone and Don Nottingham before ailing quarterback Steve Spurrier came off the bench in the second half to throw a pair of TD passes to Morris Owens for the Bucs.

Colts 20, Jets 0
Bert Jones hooked up with wide receiver Roger Carr on touchdown pass plays of 79 and 41 yards and Toni Linhart kicked a pair of field goals for Baltimore. Carr hauled in five passes in the game for 210 yards. The Jets' Clark Gaines collected 102 yards on 12 carries.

Steelers 27, Giants 0
Franco Harris carried 27 times for 106 yards and two touchdowns and the Pittsburgh defense turned in its first shutout in its last 20 games against the winless Giants, off to the worst start in their 52-year history. The Steelers outgained New York on the ground 230-88 yards, including 106 by Harris.

Raiders 18, Packers 14
Ken Stabler threw three touchdown passes in the second quarter — including an 88-yard pass-and-run connection with Cliff Branch — and the Raiders held on to win. The first two Oakland extra points were blocked and the third was wide. Each club was penalized 13 times, the Packers for 151 yards and the Raiders for 119.

Patriots 26, Bills 22
Steve Grogan threw for one touchdown and ran for another as New England built a 26-9 third-period lead and then held on. The Bills, with Gary Marangi replacing the injured Joe Ferguson at quarterback, rallied behind a pair of O. J. Simpson touchdown runs but came up short. Ferguson suffered a back injury in the second quarter and may be lost for the season. Sam Cunningham gained 118 yards for the Pats and Simpson had 110 for the Bills.

Broncos 35, Chiefs 26
Quarterback Steve Ramsey tossed a pair of touchdown passes as Denver outlasted Kansas City in a wild offensive game in which the teams combined for 53 first downs. Otis Armstrong gained 101 yards for Denver and the Bronco defense stiffened long enough to stop two Chief drives on the one-yard line.

Browns 21, Chargers 17
Brian Sipe threw for two touchdowns, including the go-ahead score on a 10-yarder to Oscar Roan in the fourth quarter, as the surprising Browns won their third straight. Sipe hit on 23 of 28 tosses for 246 yards and Larry Poole, replacing injured Greg Pruitt, who hurt his ankle late in the second quarter, gained 64 yards on 16 carries.

Rams 16, Saints 10
Pat Haden came off the bench to fire a 40-yard fourth-quarter touchdown pass to Harold Jackson, lifting Los Angeles over scrappy New Orleans. The Saints lost five fumbles and the Rams lost three in the sloppy game. Haden replaced Ron Jaworski who hit three of 11 passes for just 15 yards and threw two interceptions.

Lions 41, Seahawks 14
Greg Landry threw for three touchdowns and the Detroit defense intercepted six Jim Zorn passes as the Lions rolled over the expansion Seahawks. Levi Johnson returned one interception 70 yards for a touchdown and Lem Barney went 24 yards with another steal for another score.

Upsets, Close Shaves Mark College Football

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

You don't need a scorecard to tell the winners and losers from the latest spaced-out college football weekend. Just lend an ear:

—Pitt's Tony Dorsett, a winner: "I was so emotionally high it was unbelievable. I'm hoping I can push that record up so far that no one can ever dream of beating it. I want that record to be mine as long as I'm on this earth."

All Dorsett did was rush for 180 yards and three touchdowns in second-ranked Pitt's 45-0 rout of Navy to become major college football's all-time leading runner. His 5,206 yards erased the record of 5,177 set last year by Ohio State's Archie Griffin.

—Oklahoma State linebacker John Weimer, a winner: "This is the happiest I've ever been in my life."

What Oklahoma State did was end a string of nine straight losses to arch-rival Oklahoma, downing the fifth-ranked Sooners 31-24 as Terry Miller rushed for 159 yards and Charlie Weatherbie came off the bench to direct three second-half scoring drives.

—Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer, a loser for only the second time in 41 games as a head coach: "We have had things going too good for us too long and now adversity has struck."

—Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne, a loser whose third-ranked Cornhuskers — No. 1 in the preseason ratings — yielded a Big Eight record 98-yard scoring pass play in the final period and bowed to No. 17 Missouri 34-24: "We would have liked a chance to win the national championship, although I'm not sure we ever set that as our goal. It's going to be difficult to do that now."

Top-rated Michigan, pursued by Pitt, continues to lead the pack with UCLA, Maryland, Southern Cal and Texas Tech the logical challengers ... for now.

Michigan swamped Indiana 35-0 as Rob Lytle rushed for 173 yards and Rick Leach completed all four passes he threw for 109 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Jeff Dankworth, injured in the second period, returned to lead fourth-ranked UCLA to three second-half touchdowns and a 35-19 triumph over California.

That left the Bruins tied atop the Pac-8 with seventh-ranked Southern California. The Trojans swamped Oregon State 56-0 although star runner Ricky Bell suffered a hip pointer — not to worry, he'll be back next week — after gaining 68 yards in six carries. His back-up, freshman Charles White, added 107 yards and scored four times.

Sixth-ranked Maryland, with only lowly Clemson and Virginia remaining on its Atlantic Coast Conference slate, virtually clinched another ACC crown by whipping Duke 30-3 as Mark Manges threw two scoring passes to Bob Raba and tallied once himself.

Billy Taylor rushed for 173 yards while Larry Isaac and Rodney Allison each scored twice in leading No. 8 Texas Tech over Arizona 52-27.

Jeff Logan tallied on runs of 11 and 29 yards as ninth-ranked Ohio State trimmed Purdue 24-3 but the Buckeyes lost quarterback Rod Gerald for the rest of the season with three fractured vertebrae in his back. Ohio State as the only team on Michigan's schedule that was given a real shot to beat the Wolverines and the two bitter rivals are tied for the Big Ten lead.

Ray Goff teamed up with Gene

BGSU Loses On Coach's Blunder

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Somehow I got the information that it was third down. The coach lost it," mumbled Don Nehlen.

The Bowling Green football coach conceded it was a booboo, his decision to run on fourth down at the Miami oneyard line. An almost certain field goal would have pulled out a 10-9 victory.

Instead, Miami held with 20 seconds left, won its first game of the season 9-7 and knocked the Falcons from the Mid-American Conference lead Saturday.

Bowling Green slipped to 4-1-0 in the conference, tied for second with Ohio behind 2-0-0 Ball State.

In nonconference tests, Dayton kept Toledo winless 17-14, Ball State stopped a two-game over-all nosebleed by beating Appalachian State 20-7, Virginia Tech rolled over Kent State 42-14, Jerome Persell piled up 200 yards in Western Michigan's 31-21 verdict over Marshall, Division II national leader Northern Michigan crushed Central Michigan 41-13, William and Mary blanked Ohio University 20-0, Akron humiliated Eastern Michigan 36-0 and Southern Illinois crushed Northern Illinois 54-0 as Andre Herrera piled up 313 yards on the ground.

Nehlen said of his surprise strategy: "I sent the kicking team on then I saw the yard marker was third down. So I sent in the offense to run."

"You know," he added, "if I knew it was fourth down we would have kicked the field goal. Everytime we play Miami there's something that happens."

Dick Crum, Miami's mentor, said, "I knew what down it was. I just had to have the courage to watch. What happened to them is the same kind of thing that has been bugging us all season. 'Will you look at this,' said Crum, surveying the final statistics, "every game this year we've won the battle of the statistics. This time we lost the statistics and won the game."

After Bowling Green quarterback Mark Miller fumbled the snap from center on the controversial play, Miami linebacker Dave Hatgas joked: "I think Nehlen is a bad play caller. The only reason I'm saying this is I don't have to play against him again." Miami made nine first-quarter points stand up. Bob Maxwell passed 11 yards to Paul Warth for a touchdown and Norm Trowbridge kicked a 39-yard field goal.

Bowling Green's touchdown was a three-yard keeper by quarterback Mark Miller, whose 229 yards passing gave him a school career record of 3,120.

In other major Ohio college football action Saturday, ninth-ranked Ohio State downed Purdue 24-3 to improve its Big Ten record to 4-0 as tailback Jeff Logan ran for two touchdowns. But the triumph was costly as the Buckeyes lost the services for the rest of the season of quarterback Rod Gerald who suffered three fractured vertebrae of the back.

Baldwin-Wallace and Marietta share the lead in the Ohio Conference Blue Division with 2-0 marks after victories. Baldwin-Wallace whipped Ohio Wesleyan 43-7, dropping the Bishops into second place at 1-1, behind the two touchdown performance of fullback Dan Dowserox, and Marietta beat Mount Union (0-2) 20-7 as Mark Boy rushed for 225 yards.

Otterbein notched its first divisional victory in two games with a 17-7 come-from-behind verdict over Denison.

Ohio Conference Red Division play saw Capital falling out of the lead, while co-leaders Wittenberg and Muskingum continued their winning ways. Ohio Northern (1-1) tripped up Capital 13-11, thanks to two pass interceptions by Steve Winkle, one setting up a touchdown and the other silencing a Crusader drive in the closing seconds of the game.

Wittenberg fullback George Buckley scored three touchdowns to lead the Tigers to a 33-0 blanking of Wooster and Muskingum shut out Heidelberg 24-0 as Dave Caldwell carried the ball 129 yards. Both of the winners are 2-0 in the division.

In Hoosier-Buckeye Conference action, leader Wilmington extended its league record to 4-0-1 with a 12-0 triumph over Taylor, now 3-2. Hanover (4-1) held onto its No. 2 spot in the standings by beating Bluffton 13-7, while Findlay rolled over Earlham 31-3.

Presidents Conference play saw

Washington & Jefferson downing Hiram 21-7 and John Carroll edging Thiel 19-18.

Elsewhere, it was Slippery Rock, Pa. 24, Ashland 20; Villanova 34, Youngstown State 14; Eastern Illinois 24, Central State 8; Kenyon 10, Grove City, Pa. 6, and Case Western 14, Geneva, Pa. 0

Uland, Baker Qualify For District CC

Circleville's Dave Uland and Joel Baker both qualified for the District meet as a result of their finishes in the AA Sectional cross country meet Friday at Pine Hills Golf Course in Carroll.

The Tigers tallied 230 points to place ninth in the 17-team field in the Section II division. Fairfield Union won team honors with 76 points, Granville was second with 105 points and Bexley had 114 for third.

Uland and Baker will compete in the District meet Friday at Pine Hills Golf Course.

Tigers gaining places in the field of 119 runners were: Uland, 2nd, 10:40; Baker, 38th, 11:31; Rusty Holbrook, 59th, 11:49; Randy Speakman, 64th, 11:56; Dave Holbrook, 67th, 12:00; Jeff Morehead, 85th, 12:25; Wayne Rhoades, 100th, 12:55.

Circleville's cross country team will run Tuesday at Hamilton Twp.

Cincinnati Romps Over Houston, 27-7

HOUSTON (AP) — It's not often a 270-pound defensive end gets to be a running back and quarterback all in one game but that was the case with Coy Bacon Sunday in Cincinnati's 27-7 romp over Houston in an American Football Conference showdown.

The Bengals, who took over the AFC Central Division lead, ripped off a 20-0 lead in the third quarter before Bacon and Melvin Morgan combined on an 80-yard touchdown play that made it 27-0 for the clincher.

"I took my time in picking up the ball," said Bacon, who scooped up a Dan Pastorini fumble at his own 20 and ran 48 yards to Houston's 32 before pitching to Morgan to complete the run.

"Melvin caught up with me and hollered to pitch to him and that's when I made like a quarterback and handed off to him," said Bacon, who also had three of Cincinnati's six quarterback sacks in the game.

Cincinnati sacked Pastorini for 50 yards in losses and combined with touchdown passes by quarterbacks Ken Anderson and John Teaves and field goals of 34 and 28 yards by Chris Bahr, it was enough to send the Oilers to their second straight defeat.

The Bengals, tied with Houston going into the game, now are 5-2 while the Oilers dropped back into a tie for second with Cleveland with a 4-3 record.

Cincy cornerback Ken Riley returned an interception right yards to Houston's 10-yard line early in the first quarter to set up Anderson's 7-yard TD pass to Isaac Curtis.

Reaves came into the game late in the second quarter when Anderson bruised his hand and took advantage of the opportunity with a 14-yard pass to Bruce Coslet.

Willie Shelby set up both of Bahr's field goals with punt returns of 30 and 27 yards.

The Oilers' only touchdown came in the fourth quarter after the outcome was decided when Ronnie Coleman ran 69 yards with a punt to prevent a shutout.

In addition to the six quarterback sacks, the Bengal defense held the Oilers to 148 yards in total offense including 29 yards rushing on nine attempts.

"Defense is a big part of football and

Richard Petty Wins American 500 Race

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — Richard Petty is still searching for victory.

He's winning races again, but his Dodge is still not capable of beating everybody.

And that's what concerns him. "This is the best we've run all year, so maybe this means better days are ahead," Petty said of the rapidly winding down Grand National stock car season, after he won Sunday's American 500 here. "We didn't finish up last year too strong, even though we won 13 races. And we didn't start out real good this year."

"I'm hoping a strong finish now will give us a push in the right direction to start next season."

Phoenix Roadrunners Defeat Edmonton, 5-3

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The shortest player in the World Hockey Association and a defenseman who turned in a strong offensive performance were instrumental in victories in two of three WHA games Sunday night.

Rob Ftocek, at 5-foot-5 the shortest player in the league, scored three times, leading the Phoenix Roadrunners to a 5-3 victory over the Edmonton Oilers. And defenseman Paul Terbenche scored twice as the Calgary Cowboys rode to a 6-0 victory over the San Diego Mariners.

In the other WHA game, the Winnipeg Jets walloped the Birmingham Bulls 7-1.

ours is capable of stopping anybody,"

Bengal Coach Bill Johnson said. The Oilers missed a scoring opportunity in the third quarter after getting a first down at the Bengal three-yard line. After three plays netted only two yards, Oiler offensive coordinator King Hill sent in Skip Butler to attempt a field goal.

Pastorini, however, called time and convinced Hill to try for the TD. Pastorini's pass to offensive tackle Elbert Drungo, lined up as a tight end, was too high.

"Elbert was open but it was just a bad pass," Pastorini said. "At that point three points weren't going to help us."

Michigan, OSU Again Contenders

By JOE MOOSHIL
AP Sports Writer

Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler was not only pleased with his team's performance in a 35-0 victory over Indiana Saturday but said "It remains to be seen if this is a super team. We've been better than the seven teams we've played but each game now is going to get tougher."

"We played well," said Schembechler. "I told the squad we would not go into this game like we did at Northwestern—flat."

Indiana Coach Lee Corso was thoroughly convinced of Michigan's No. 1 ranking.

"If we played them next week, they'd beat us the same way," said Corso. "They were very good and they are beautifully coached."

Ohio State defeated Purdue 24-3 and with Minnesota losing to Iowa 22-12, the Big Ten race began to take familiar form with Michigan and Ohio State all alone in a tie for first place.

Michigan State dumped Illinois 31-23 and Wisconsin roared back in the final minute to pull out a 28-25 victory over winnless Northwestern.

Iowa's comeback victory after Minnesota had led 12-0 at the half spoiled the buildup for Minnesota's invasion of Michigan in the battle for the Little Brown Jug.

"They beat us in every way," said Minnesota Coach Cal Stoll. "You never know about this game. We became physically and emotionally bankrupt at the same time."

Coach Woody Hayes lost quarterback Rod Gerald for the season with cracked vertebrae but Jim Pacentia took over and guided the Buckeyes to a hard-earned victory.

Twice in the third quarter Purdue recovered fumbles deep in Ohio State territory but all the Boilermakers could come up with was a game-tying field goal before Ohio State hit for three touchdowns.

"By far our best defense of the year," said Hayes. "We gave them the ball twice down there and twice we stopped them without a first down."

Purdue Coach Alex Agase conceded his team had its chances. "We forced the breaks and got the ball on their 19 and their 11. Down there you got to get seven."

Tigers Hold Ticket Sale

Adult and student tickets for Saturday night's football game with Akron St. Vincent-St. Marys in the Rubber Bowl at Akron will go on sale beginning Wednesday.

They will be on sale from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday through Friday at the high school office and beginning 1 p.m. Wednesday at Bingman and Risch drugstores.

Student tickets will also be on sale from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday at the junior high school only.

Tickets will also be sold at the gate but will be higher priced than the pre sale tickets.

All money from the sale of tickets in Circleville will go to the Circleville athletic fund.

Persons planning to go to the game can take I-71 North to the intersection of I-76 and Route 224. Take I-76 and Route 224 East—I-76 will turn off shortly but drivers should stay on Route 224. Route 224 will cross I-77 and approximately 3 miles past this you will come to Route 241 (Washington Blvd)—Turn left at the traffic light and the Rubber Bowl will be about two miles on the left hand side. Driving time from Circleville to the Rubber Bowl is approximately three to three and one-half hours.

Tiger Reserves Lose At Trace

Circleville's reserve grid squad traveled to Miami Trace Saturday and suffered a 22-0 setback at the hands of the Panthers.

Trace's scores came on a 69-yard run, a pass interception return and a pass play.

The Tiger reserves are now 3-2 and will host Washington C. H. Nov. 6.

Black Hawks Beat Blues, 7-2

By HANK LOWENKRON
AP Sports Writer

"It was a strange, weird felling being out there all alone," said Cliff Koroll, after scoring on a rare penalty shot and helping the Chicago Black Hawks to a 7-2 victory over the St. Louis Blues in a National Hockey League game.

Referee Bruce Hood called the penalty shot against Chuck Lefley, who tripped Koroll as he was going in for a shot on St. Louis goalie Ed Johnston Sunday night.

"It was a lousy call," said Blues Coach Emile Francis. "Koroll didn't even have possession of the puck."

"Not only did I have it, but I even got a shot off as I was going down," said Koroll. "That's the first one in my life. I asked Bobby Orr where Johnston's weakness was and he told me, 'Put it in the net.'"

In other NHL games, Buffalo edged Washington 2-1, Vancouver nipped the New York Rangers 5-4, Pittsburgh and Atlanta tied 3-3, and Rick MacLeish scored three goals, leading Philadelphia over Colorado 5-3.

Use This Method To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, TEXAS — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss... grow more hair.

Have you faced the fact that you have a hair loss problem? Hair loss occurs so gradually that men and women often ignore it. Until it's too late. Even though you see yourself in a mirror every day, many of you won't admit to abnormal hair fall.

If you think, honestly, that you might be in this category, look at a picture taken a year ago—three years ago. Notice a difference? If so, now's the time to stop your hair loss. You could be going bald.

If it appears that you are already losing hair, whatever your daily hair routine is, if you continue to follow it, your hair will probably gradually thin away to nothing.

But it doesn't have to happen. Often hair fall is NOT normal.

Now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that not only stops hair loss, but actually grows hair! And you don't even have to take their word for it. You can try their treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself. Naturally they wouldn't offer this opportunity unless it worked. But it's impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness seems to "run in the family," it is certainly not proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

If you have thinning hair, the Loesch treatment may be the answer for you. If you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop hair loss and grow more hair, do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days—at their risk—if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially by mail.

Postal Commission Eyes Dismal Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — A study of why the Postal Service is losing more money each year — when its goal was to eliminate deficits — should touch off a major congressional debate over its future.

The federal Postal Service Commission, expected to hold its first meeting soon, is due to make recommendations by March 15. The commission includes seven voting members representing business, postal workers and consumers.

The Postal Service can neither raise mail rates nor trim services while the commission deliberates.

The service was created in 1971, replacing the old Post Office Department, with the goal of paying for itself. To do this, the agency was given powers to operate more like a private business.

However, the Postal Service has lost $3 billion in its first five years, and the deficits have been getting larger. The corporation has avoided insolvency only by borrowing from the federal Treasury.

The 1971 organization was based on recommendations of an earlier government commission, which said postal costs could be reduced by at least 20 per cent if the investment and operating practices used in private industry were made available to postal management.

"Several years after the corporation

More Women Entering Business

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More women are enrolling in business courses and finding increased employment in a crowded job market, according to a placement director at the Ohio State University.

James R. Decker, placement director at the OSU College of Administrative Science, says while in the minority, women are enrolling in business programs at Ohio State in record numbers. In each of the last several years, female enrollment in the College of Administrative Science has shown an annual average 20 per cent increase.

Last year, there were 395 female business students from a total enrollment of 2,375, or nearly 17 per cent. Decker said this fall's enrollment figures are incomplete, but he estimates more than 450 women are in the college.

At the graduate level, women at Ohio State follow the national trend with 18 per cent of the class.

"...the reason for the increase is that women feel the market has opened up for women," he said.

"Affirmative action" programs (hiring minorities), particularly in the larger businesses, have increased opportunities for women, Decker said.

"In your major corporations, it is policy, it is an edict. It is happening and...going to continue to happen," he said.

"As women work into the organization, they are hopefully going to give opportunities to other women," Decker said. "As they prove they are capable in competing with males at the top levels, even more doors will open up."

Deckers says business organizations with strong affirmative action policies may be giving the edge to the qualified female candidate over the male.

Gideon Bibles

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Gideons, the people who distribute free Bibles to hotels and motels, reported at their 77th international convention held here recently that they had a record year in 1975.

More than 16 million Bibles were placed throughout the world and membership increased to 51,151, double the number of a decade ago, they said.

The Gideons now have branches of 109 countries, and copies of the Bible are distributed in 46 languages.

Syndicates Turning To Executive Suites

WASHINGTON (AP) — The death of Sicilian-born Carlo Gambino, reputedly the most powerful Mafia boss in the country, marks another turning point in the move toward a native American brand of syndicated crime, law enforcement officials say.

And investigators say the new generation of the Mafia is finding that there is more money in executive suites than on the streets.

Gambino reportedly was the pattern for the Don Corleone character in the Mario Puzo book and movie, "The Godfather." He died of a stroke Oct. 15 at 74.

"In terms of broader significance, I would look at Gambino's passing as more confirmation of the trend," says Jay C. Waldman, a deputy assistant attorney general in the Justice Department's criminal division. "We're talking about a younger group of people now, many of them born in this country and educated here."

The influence of Mafia godfathers is waning, and younger men are taking their place, suggested Waldman, whose duties include supervising the over-all thrust of department investigations and prosecutions in the field of organized crime.

The nation's crime syndicates are moving off the streets and into corporate boardrooms because they're finding that business frauds are more rewarding than conventional racketeering, said Waldman. "These people go where the money is," he said. "There's more money to be made more quickly and with less risk in the so-called paper crimes."

In the 1970s, he said, there has been some shift in organized crime that reflects changing times and "personalities among the leadership of organized crime, and changing conditions in the country at large."

He said the old Mafia families based on ethnic and blood kinship still operate in perhaps two dozen cities. But new "groups and combinations of individuals who really transcend ethnic lines" are on the rise.

Crime syndicates are devoting less attention to traditional gambling, loan-sharking and fencing operations and turning to more lucrative frauds involving corporations and labor unions, Waldman said.

Mobsters have infiltrated and taken

Arrest Man After Chase

Circleville Police and the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department teamed up during the early hours of this morning to arrest a Frankfort man after he led officers on a high-speed chase through the south end of the city and Route 23 South.

According to the report, at approximately 2:20 a.m., Ptl. Ron Thompson and Circleville Police Dispatcher Mark Hoffman informed police headquarters that they were in pursuit of a subject in a Pontiac Lemans that committed a reckless operation violation. They were soon joined in the chase down South Court Street by Ptl. Joe Stevenson. According to Thompson's report, at one point on Court Street the fleeing car was clocked in excess of 80 mph.

At the intersection of Court Street and U.S. Route 23 South, the subject headed south on Route 23, and as the speeding party passed the Wacker Shopping Center south of the city they were joined in the chase by Sheriff's Deputy J. Phillip Brown. The report states that Brown clocked the subject at 100 mph on Route 23.

The subject was finally apprehended approximately five miles south of the city limits on Route 23. He was identified as Jerry D. Lee, of Route 1, Frankfort. Lee was charged by Ptl. Ron Thompson with reckless operation, speeding 80 in a 35 mph zone, and eluding a police officer. Deputy J. Phillip Brown charged Lee with speeding 100 in a 55 mph zone, and eluding a police officer.

Square Dancing

Western square dance lessons will be given by Eddie Powell 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Municipal Building in South Bloomfield.

over dozens or perhaps hundreds of businesses and "we have definitely seen an infiltration of legitimate labor unions," he continued. He refused to name companies and unions that have fallen to the mob.

"The common type of scheme we see is that they look for a business that is heavy with assets but also heavy with liabilities, so it can be bought for a nominal amount plus assuming the debts," he related.

"Then they don't pay the debts, quickly convert the assets to cash, and file for bankruptcy."

Through such bankruptcy frauds, stock manipulation and stock frauds, the syndicate can invest and launder the vast sums of money already made in the conventional rackets.

In some cases, he said, crime syndicates may take over a business and operate it in what appears to be a legitimate fashion. But behind the scenes, they're relying on old-fashioned strong-arm tactics and political corruption to win contracts or gain monopolies, he said.

MAKE THE MINI-MIZER TEST!

1 BUY THIS WEEK'S GROCERIES AT KROGER

And while you're at our store, pick up one of our handy Mini-Mizer pocket adders for only 77¢.

2 CHECK AT ANY OTHER FOOD STORE YOU LIKE.

Use your Mini-Mizer to add up that store's total for the same items you just bought at Kroger.

3 COMPARE THE TOTALS.

We believe Kroger's total will be lower. But if you have any doubts, invest 77¢ and an hour of your time in making the test. See how much you can save, and settle any doubts for sure.
